GENERAL INFORMATION

WELCOME

Welcome to the University of Technology, Sydney (UTS), one of the largest universities in New South Wales – a university with an international reputation for quality programs and flexible learning. UTS develops and regularly revises its programs of study in partnership with industry, government and professional bodies, so that its degrees are based on the latest professional standards and current practices. As a result, UTS produces graduates who are ready for work, and this is demonstrated in the high numbers of its students who are members of the workforce within a few months of finishing their degree.

UTS offers its students a lively, supportive and diverse learning environment across three campuses, and a range of social, cultural and sporting facilities to enrich each student's experience. UTS regards learning as a lifelong experience, and offers a range of programs to cater for the educational needs of people at a variety of stages in their lives, and from diverse backgrounds and cultures.

UTS offers undergraduate and postgraduate degrees, developed by the Faculties of Business; Design, Architecture and Building; Education; Engineering; Humanities and Social Sciences; Information Technology; Law; Nursing, Midwifery and Health; and Science. Each of these faculties is responsible for programs across a number of key disciplines, and many offer courses in conjunction with one another, or with the Institute for International Studies. Courses developed and delivered by these faculties reflect the University's commitment to providing a relevant education to students through flexible and work-based modes of learning and through the ongoing internationalisation of the curriculum.

ABOUT THE UTS HANDBOOKS

Every year UTS produces 10 faculty/institute handbooks which provide the latest information on approved courses and subjects to be offered in the following year. These handbooks include comprehensive details about course content and structure, subject and elective choices, attendance patterns, credit-point requirements, and important faculty and student information. Many of them also contain faculty policies and guidelines for participation in specific courses. This provides students with the necessary information to meet the requirements of the course, complete a program of study, and receive a degree.

UTS also produces a companion volume to these handbooks every year. The UTS: Calendar contains the University Act, By-law and Rules, a list of courses offered across the University, and other useful University information. Copies of the faculty/institute handbooks and the UTS: Calendar are held in the University's libraries and faculty offices and can be purchased at the Co-op Bookshop.

Every effort is made to ensure that the information contained in the handbooks and the Calendar is correct at the time of printing. However, UTS is continuously updating and reviewing courses and services to ensure that they meet needs, current and emerging, and as a result information contained in these publications may be subject to change.

APPLICATIONS

Undergraduate
The NSW and ACT Universities Admissions Centre (UAC) processes most applications for undergraduate courses which start at the beginning of the year. Students are required to lodge these UAC application forms between August and December; early closing dates may apply to some courses. To find out more about these courses and the application procedures, check the UAC Guide, or the UAC website at: www.uac.edu.au

Students can also apply for entry to some UTS courses by lodging a UTS application form directly with the University. These are usually courses that are not available to recent school leavers and do not have a UAC code.

Postgraduate
Applications for postgraduate courses should be made directly to UTS. For courses starting at the beginning of the year, most applications open in August with a first round closing date of 31 October. For courses starting in the middle of the year, applications open in May. For further information, contact the UTS Student Info & Admin Centre.

International students
International student applications for both postgraduate and undergraduate courses can be made either directly to the International Programs Office (IPO) or through one of the University’s registered agents. For courses starting at the beginning of the year, applications should be received by 30 November of the previous year. For courses starting in the middle of the year, applications should be received by 31 May of that year. For more information, contact IPO.
CRICOS provider code: 00099F

Non-award and cross-institutional study
Students who want to study a single subject at UTS which is not part of a UTS degree or qualification, must apply for non-award or cross-institutional study. There are three application periods, and closing dates vary for each semester. For more information contact the appropriate faculty or the UTS Student Info & Admin Centre.
FEES AND COSTS

Service fees
Service fees are charged to students to contribute to the cost of a range of facilities and services which are generally available to all students during the course of their study.

Variations and exemptions
Fees and charges may vary from year to year. In certain circumstances, some students may be eligible for reduced service fees.
For full details of variations and exemptions to the fees listed below, contact the UTS Student Info & Admin Centre.

1 Charges have been adjusted to reflect the University’s liability for Goods and Services Tax (GST).

Course fees
No course fees are paid by local students undertaking undergraduate studies at UTS. Students are, however, liable for HECS charges (see following). Many postgraduate courses attract a course fee. These course fees are calculated on a course-by-course basis and are charged in addition to the service fees outlined above. Payment of course fees may vary depending on a student’s status, and on conditions laid down by the faculty. Contact the relevant faculty for full details.
Details of course fees are outlined under each course entry in this handbook. Readers should note that fees quoted throughout the handbook are correct at the time of publication however they are subject to change and should be confirmed with the Student Info & Admin Centre.

Course fees for international students
At the time of publication, course fees for undergraduate international students range from A$5,000 to A$8,500 per semester, and for postgraduate international students from A$5,000 to A$8,700 per semester. These vary from time to time and the International Programs Office should be contacted for up-to-date information, or visit the website: www.ipo.uts.edu.au/courses/index.html
International students in Australia on a student visa are required to undertake full-time study as a condition of their visa.
For more information contact the International Programs Office, or visit the website: www.ipo.uts.edu.au

Other costs
Students may incur other costs while they study at UTS. These may include books, printed sets of reading materials, photocopying, equipment hire, the purchase of computer software and hardware, and Internet services.

HECS
The Higher Education Contribution Scheme (HECS) is a financial contribution paid to the Commonwealth Government by tertiary students towards the cost of their education. It is payable each teaching period and the amount paid varies according to the number of credit points undertaken and the method of payment nominated by the student.
Most students have three choices in the way they pay HECS:
1. paying all of the HECS up front and receiving a 25% discount
2. deferring all payment until a student’s income reaches a certain level, or
3. paying at least $500 of the HECS contribution up front and deferring the remainder.

Note: These options may not apply to New Zealand citizens and Australian Permanent Residents.
Commonwealth legislation sets strict conditions for HECS over which the University has no control. HECS charges are based on the subjects in which students are enrolled on the HECS census date. It is important for students to realise that any reductions in their academic workload after the census date for a particular semester will not reduce their HECS liability.
Students who defer their HECS payments become liable to commence repayment once their taxable income reaches the repayment threshold. This does not necessarily mean at the conclusion of their studies – a student’s income may reach this threshold before then.

New students, students returning from leave and students who are commencing a new or second course, must complete a Payment Options Declaration form. This form must be lodged with the University by the census date and should show a valid Tax File Number.

The HECS census date for Autumn semester is 31 March and for Spring semester is 31 August (as the dates fall on a Sunday in 2002, the HECS census dates will be 28 March and 30 August). HECS census dates for other teaching periods can be obtained from the UTS Student Info & Admin Centre.

There are a number of variations to these guidelines. It is the responsibility of each student to find out which HECS conditions apply to them. Information can be obtained from the booklet HECS Your Questions Answered, which is available from the HECS office on 1800 020 108 (www.hecs.gov.au) or the UTS Student Info & Admin Centre:

gmail info.office@uts.edu.au

2002 HECS rates

Differential HECS

In 2002, the full-time, full-year contributions for each band are as follows:

- Band 1: $3,598 (Arts, Humanities, Social Studies/Behavioural Sciences, Education, Visual/Performing Arts, Nursing, Justice and Legal Studies)
- Band 2: $5,125 (Mathematics, Computing, Other Health Sciences, Agriculture/Renewable Resources, Built Environment/Architecture, Sciences, Engineering/Processing, Administration, Business and Economics)
- Band 3: $5,999 (Law, Medicine, Medical Science, Dentistry, Dental Services and Veterinary Science).

Pre-differential HECS rate

If you commenced or deferred but did not complete your course before 1997, you may be eligible to pay a flat rate of HECS. In 2002, this rate is $2,702 for a full time study load.

POSTGRADUATE EDUCATION LOANS SCHEME (PELS)

As a result of the Government’s Innovation and Education Legislation Amendment Bill (No.2) 2001 being endorsed by Parliament, a new Postgraduate Education Loans Scheme (PELS) will be implemented on 1 January 2002.

PELS is an income-contingent loan facility similar to the Higher Education Contribution Scheme (HECS) for eligible students enrolled in fee-paying postgraduate non-research courses.

All eligible students enrolled in a postgraduate fee-paying non-research course in 2002 are eligible to apply for a loan. This means that both continuing and commencing students are eligible to apply.

Eligible students are able to borrow up to the amount of the tuition fee being charged by UTS for each semester for the duration of their course. Students are also able to pay part of their semester tuition fee to UTS for a course and obtain a PELS loan for the balance of their outstanding fees for each semester.

Students are required to complete a Loan Request form by the census date each semester requesting the Commonwealth to pay their tuition fees to UTS and declare that they are aware of their obligations to repay the loan under the scheme when their income reaches a certain amount. Students also have to provide a Tax File Number (TFN) to UTS in the same way that students choosing to defer their HECS payment already do.

The Student Fee Services Office will be coordinating the introduction of PELS at UTS. Queries in relation to the introduction of PELS should be directed to the Student Info & Admin Centre on telephone (02) 9514 1222, or further information can be obtained from the DETYA website at:

FINANCIAL HELP

Austudy/Youth Allowance

Students aged under 25 years may be eligible to receive financial assistance in the form of the Youth Allowance.

Full-time students aged over 25 years may be eligible to receive Austudy which provides financial help to students who meet its income and assets requirements.

Application forms and information about eligibility for both Youth Allowance and Austudy are available from the Student Services Unit at Kuring-gai or City campuses. Commonwealth legislation sets strict requirements for Austudy/Youth Allowance over which the University has no control. It is important that the students concerned understand these requirements.

Students who receive Austudy or the Youth Allowance and decide to drop subjects during the semester must be aware that to remain eligible they must be enrolled in a minimum of 18 credit points, or have a HECS liability for the semester of .375 equivalent full-time student units. The only exceptions made are for some students with disabilities which interfere with their studies, students who are single supporting parents or, in exceptional cases, those who have been directed by the University to reduce their study load.

For more information, talk to a Financial Assistance Officer in the Student Services Unit. Call for an appointment on:

telephone (02) 9514 1177 (City campus) or (02) 9514 5342 (Kuring-gai campus)

Application forms for both Austudy and Youth Allowance should be lodged as soon as possible with any Centrelink office.

INTERNATIONAL EXCHANGE STUDENT SCHEME

UTS encourages its students to develop an international perspective on their courses and careers. As part of their studies, students have the opportunity to spend one or two semesters studying at an overseas university and receive credit towards their UTS degrees. To enable this to happen, UTS has formal links with a large number of universities around the world. The UTS International Exchange Student Scheme assists students to study on exchange primarily at English-speaking universities in the United States and Europe, but also at other universities around the world.

UTS supports student participation in the International Exchange Student Scheme through the provision of a number of scholarships each semester as a contribution to the costs of going on exchange. While on exchange, students do not pay tuition fees in the overseas university. They pay their usual HECS fees or, if they are international students at UTS, their Australian tuition fees.

Further information and application forms for the Exchange Scheme and scholarships can be obtained from:

EQUITY AND DIVERSITY

UTS has a strong commitment to ensure that the diverse nature of the Australian society is reflected in all aspects of its employment and education. The University also aims to assist members of under-represented groups overcome past or present discrimination, and to provide a supportive and open organisational culture in which students and staff are able to develop to their full potential.

UTS is committed to implementing its Equal Opportunity Statement which aims to ensure that all students and staff are treated fairly and equitably, and can work and study in an environment free of harassment. Discrimina­tion, harassment and victimisation are unlawful, undermine professional relationships, diminish the experience of university life, and are not tolerated at UTS. All students and staff have a responsibility to contribute to the achievement of a productive, safe and equitable study and work environment.

The Equity & Diversity Unit provides a range of services for students and prospective students. These include the coordination of the inpUTS Educational Access Scheme for students who have experienced long-term educational disadvantage; coordination of financial scholarships and awards for comencing low-income students; and the provision of confidential advice and assistance with the resolution of discrimination and harassment-related grievances.

JUMBUNNA, INDIGENOUS HOUSE OF LEARNING

Jumbunna was relaunched as the Indigenous House of Learning (IHL) in 2001. Jumbunna has grown from being, in 1986, an Aboriginal student support centre, to become a successful academic, research and support centre with approximately 300 Indigenous Australian undergraduate and postgraduate students studying at UTS.

Jumbunna’s role within UTS is to contribute to Australia’s educational and social development by making UTS staff and students aware of Indigenous Australian cultures and associated issues. Jumbunna is committed to improv­ing the quality of teaching and research at UTS by facilitating active links with the Indigenous community, higher education institutions and other professions with particular emphasis on Australia’s growth as a multicultural nation.

Jumbunna IHL has a wide ranging, long term agenda that includes:
• involving Indigenous Australians in institutional decision-making and consultative structures, academic policy development and curriculums, and strengthening partnerships between it and the faculties
• broadening the awareness and acceptance of Indigenous Australian cultures, achievements, contributions, and contemporary issues by developing teaching subjects and awards
• broadening economic, social and political opportunities for Indigenous Australians, in particular expanding employment and income opportunities
• enhancing the teaching and coordination of postgraduate studies in Indigenous studies
• the provision of consultancy services to community and government, and
• improving accessibility, retention and graduation rates of Indigenous Australians in studies at UTS.

Reconciliation Studies elective
The subject Reconciliation Studies is offered by Jumbunna to all students. Offered for the first time in Autumn semester 2002, the subject is a transdisciplinary 6- or 8-credit-point elective available at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels.

Undergraduate

NSW CHILD PROTECTION LEGISLATION

Prohibited Person Declaration and Screening
In accordance with New South Wales Child Protection legislation, students participating in practical training placements which require them to have direct contact with children under 18 in designated child-related employment areas are required to complete a Prohibited Employment Declaration form on enrolment. In some circumstances students may also be subject to employment screening. Screening is carried out only with students’ consent. Eligibility for participation in such programs is determined on the basis of information obtained through these checks.

OTHER SERVICES

Student Ombud
Enrolled or registered students with a complaint against decisions of University staff, or related to the University, may seek assistance from the Student Ombud. All matters are treated in the strictest confidence and in accord with proper processes.

Student complaints
UTS is committed to providing a learning and working environment in which complaints are responded to promptly and with minimum distress and maximum protection to all parties.

All students and staff have a responsibility to contribute to the achievement of a productive, safe and equitable study and work environment at UTS. The University’s procedures for handling student complaints are based on confidentiality, impartiality, procedural fairness, protection from victimisation and prompt resolution.

Students should first raise their complaint directly with the person concerned where possible, or with an appropriate person in the faculty or administrative unit concerned. To seek advice and assistance in lodging a complaint, contact the Student Services Unit or the Equity & Diversity Unit.

Information on how to make a complaint is available on the Equity & Diversity Unit’s website at: www.equity.uts.edu.au/resources/gota.html

ENVIRONMENT, HEALTH, SAFETY AND SECURITY

The University is committed to providing a safe and healthy workplace for students, staff and visitors and adopting a socially responsible approach towards protecting and sustaining the environment. Staff and students must take reasonable care of themselves and others, cooperate with actions taken to protect health and safety and not wilfully place at risk the health, safety or wellbeing of others.

Emergency procedures
Report emergencies to Security by dialling ‘6’ from any internal telephone or Freecall 1800 249 559 (24 hrs).

Let the Security Officer know:
- the nature of the problem (e.g. fire, medical emergency, assault)
- the location of the emergency, and
- your name and the telephone extension you are calling from.

Evacuation procedures
The Evacuation Alarm consists of two tones:

BEEP...BEEP...BEEP... [Prepare]
When you hear this tone:
- shut down or secure machinery and computers
- prepare to evacuate, and
- check whether anyone needs assistance.

WHOOP...WHOOP...WHOOP... [Evacuate]
When you hear this tone:
- listen for instructions, a public announcement will tell you to ‘Evacuate the building’
- leave the building via the nearest fire exit
- do not use lifts
- provide assistance where required
- proceed to the assembly area
- follow instructions from Emergency Authorities and Security, and
- do not return to the building until the all clear is given.

Hazards and risks
If you see a hazard or condition that presents a risk to your health and safety, report it to a staff member or Security Officer so that something can be done to remedy it. Help to fix it if you can.

To report a serious hazard after hours, contact Security by dialling ‘6’ from any internal telephone or Freecall 1800 249 559 (24 hrs).

Safe work practices
Always follow safe work practices as provided by your lecturer or a technical staff member. Ask for help if you are unsure about how to use a piece of equipment or undertake a task, particularly before carrying out new or unfamiliar work.

First aid
There are a number of First Aid Officers in every building on each UTS campus. See the first aid poster in your study area for their names, location and phone number. Security Officers also have first aid training and can be contacted by dialling ‘6’ from any internal telephone or Freecall 1800 249 559 (24 hrs).

Medical attention is also available from the Health Service at City (Broadway) and Kuring-gai campuses.

Accident/incident reporting
If you are involved in an accident or incident, report it to a staff member or Security Officer and then complete a UTS Accident/Incident Report form, available from your faculty office or Security.

If the accident/incident is serious, call Security immediately by dialling ‘6’ from any internal telephone or Freecall 1 800 249 559 (24 hrs).

Smoking
Smoking is not permitted inside any building on any campus of the University, or in any University vehicle.

Campus shuttle bus
The University operates a number of shuttle bus services. These run between:
- City and Kuring-gai campus
- Kuring-gai campus main entry and the Kuring-gai campus carpark
• City campus at Haymarket and Broadway and the student accommodation facilities (Geegal and Bulga Ngurra). This shuttle covers the area bounded by William Henry Street, Bay Street and Broadway. All students living within this area are urged to use the service to ensure a safe passage home.

Shuttle bus timetables are available from the Security Office on your campus.

Lost and found
The Security Office on your Campus is the first point of call to check for lost property or to hand in found items. Items are kept for three months and if unclaimed become the property of the person who found the item.

Security systems
All buildings are accessible by a personal identification number (PIN) and are protected by an electronic intrusion detection system and a closed circuit TV network. You can obtain a PIN from your faculty office. Remember, your PIN is assigned to you and is not transferable. Do not misuse your PIN as this could compromise the safety of others.

Keeping yourself safe
• If studying/working in an isolated area, particularly after hours, lock the doors and don’t let anyone in who you don’t know. Do not leave doors propped open.
• If you think you are being followed or feel frightened for any reason, contact Security by dialling ’6’ from any internal telephone or Freecall 1 800 249 559.
• Do not take shortcuts through isolated areas, particularly at the St Leonards campus where the cemetery is a definite no-go area, even during the day. Keep to well-travelled routes and well-lit areas.
• Walk near the curb, away from doorways and bushes.
• Be alert when using toilet facilities, particularly in isolated areas. Check for strangers while you are still near the door. Whenever possible, ask a friend to accompany you.
• If you plan to have a drink after classes, make plans ahead of time for getting home. Don’t leave with people you are not comfortable with.
• Do not hitchhike or accept a lift from a stranger.

• If you feel uncomfortable about who is in a lift/elevator, do not get in. Wait until the next lift/elevator arrives.
• Remember, UTS Security staff are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

Keeping your belongings safe
The University consists of a number of large public buildings in the CBD and experiences a level of property crime in keeping with its location. Purses, wallets and particularly mobile phones are a prime target for thieves.
• Mark your name or other personal identification (e.g. your driver’s licence number) on personal items of value. Marked items are less likely to be stolen.
• Use the lockers in the Library to store personal property, particularly if you plan on spending some time studying.
• Keep your possessions with you at all times. Do not leave wallets, purses or phones unprotected or out of your sight, particularly in the Library, computer laboratories or cafeterias.
• Do not carry large amounts of money – there are automatic teller machines (ATMs) on most campuses.

Bicycle storage
Bicycle racks are located outside major buildings and often covered by a security camera.

Recycling
UTS has facilities for recycling paper, glass, cardboard and aluminium. Reduce, reuse and recycle.

It is committed to improving the quality of teaching and research at UTS by facilitating active international links with higher education institutions, business, industry and the professions, with particular emphasis given to the Asia-Pacific region.

INSTITUTE FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

The Institute for International Studies is concerned with the study of comparative social change and cultural diversity, particularly in East Asia, South-East Asia, Latin America and Europe.

The Institute has a wide-ranging, long-term agenda that includes:

- the teaching of an undergraduate program in International Studies

INFORMATION FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDIES STUDENTS

International Studies program

Technological change, the emergence of a more integrated world and the movement of people during the second half of the 20th century have dramatically increased the importance of the international dimensions of our lives. In all aspects of life and work, contemporary graduates need to be aware of the wider world. UTS aims to enhance its graduates' understanding of other cultures and societies through the International Studies program.

The Institute for International Studies assists in increasing awareness and understanding of international matters, particularly in the non-English-speaking world, through its teaching in a number of ways. Students may follow the International Studies program within a combined degree, or study some of its language and culture and contemporary society subjects as electives in any other UTS degree course. Graduate students may study a language and culture other than English in order to supplement their professional or workplace experience through the Postgraduate Coursework Degree Program.

All subjects are offered subject to the approval of the Board of Studies of the Institute for International Studies and the Academic Board of UTS. Where there are sufficient student numbers, units of instruction are taught at UTS campuses. In other cases, arrangements may be made for students to attend classes at other universities.

While every effort has been made to ensure that the details provided in this handbook are correct at the time of printing, the University reserves the right to vary any program.

The International Studies program consists of a number of majors that introduce students to a specific country or culture. Details of each major are provided in this handbook. These majors are also open to international students – conditions apply.

The Institute also offers an Australia and the Asia-Pacific Region major for international students. Details of this major are provided in the Majors section of this handbook.

Language and Culture programs

In addition to the International Studies program, the Institute for International Studies organises and coordinates the teaching of languages other than English for all UTS students.

In some cases, Language and Culture programs are taught at UTS by the Institute. In other cases, the Institute has made arrangements for UTS students to attend language studies at other universities in the Sydney area. It is also possible for individual arrangements to be made for students to study other languages elsewhere.

The Institute offers language programs in Chinese, French, German, Greek, Indonesian, Italian, Japanese, Malaysian, Russian, Spanish, and Thai. The Institute can arrange for the teaching of other language programs depending on availability and demand.

More information may be found under Language Programs in the Subject Descriptions section of this handbook.

Undergraduate combined degree program

The combined degree program in International Studies at UTS is designed to produce graduates who are primarily trained in a professional or practical discipline, but who also have a substantial knowledge and appreciation of a non-English-speaking culture. In the case of international students, the program combines their professional discipline with a knowledge of English and of Australia and the Asia-Pacific region.

In addition to their professional degree program, students who undertake the combined degree program follow an International Studies major that concentrates on a specific country or region. Students learn about its language and culture, study its contemporary society and spend two semesters studying there.

In the International Studies program you focus on one of the following countries or majors: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain and Thailand. There is also a Heritage Major that permits students with previous exposure to a language and culture to continue their study in countries such as Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, Poland, Russia, Taiwan, the Philippines and Vietnam.

Australia and the Asia-Pacific is only available as a major to international students. International students may access one of the other majors offered provided that the country they choose as their major is able to grant them a visa to study there. This needs to be determined prior to commencing subjects within the International Studies major. If a visa cannot be granted, then it will not be possible to undertake the chosen major.

Combined degree programs are available with all faculties.

The International Studies component of any combined degree amounts to the equivalent of two years of full-time academic study or 96 credit points. It is studied concurrently with the major discipline of study in an integrated program. Combined degrees have been structured to facilitate the study of two separate programs at the same time.
Each combined degree program has a Course Coordinator in the appropriate faculty. Inquiries about a specific combined degree program should be addressed to the relevant Course Coordinator.

Combined degree students enrol at the University through the faculties. However, at University enrolment time students need to register for the International Studies subjects they intend to take for the year.

Outlines of the combined degrees and their International Studies components are provided in the Undergraduate Courses section of this handbook.

Postgraduate studies

The Institute for International Studies accepts research students to study for the higher degrees of Doctor of Philosophy (PhD), and Master of Arts (by thesis) (MA). The Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences offers a Postgraduate Coursework Degree Program in International Studies - the Graduate Diploma in International Studies and the Master of Arts in International Studies.

Research in the Institute for International Studies focuses on contemporary social, political, economic and cultural change, and research students are usually accepted only in this area of investigation.

The Postgraduate Coursework Degree Program in International Studies provides graduates from a variety of disciplinary backgrounds with the opportunity to study a language and culture other than English. Students study for one year full time (or two years part time) to obtain the Graduate Diploma in International Studies. They may then continue to study for the Master of Arts in International Studies, which involves an additional year of full-time study. The Graduate Diploma is a prerequisite for the Master of Arts in International Studies.

Further information on postgraduate opportunities and details of the Postgraduate Coursework Degree Program may be found in the Postgraduate Courses section of this handbook.

Electives and non-award studies

Language and culture subjects and contemporary society subjects are available as electives to undergraduate and postgraduate students at UTS. In some cases, sub-majors are available combining three elective subjects in International Studies: International Studies, Specialist Country Studies and Language Other than English (LOTE) Studies. For further details, see page 137.
The International Studies program introduces students to languages and cultures of the non-English-speaking world and teaches them about contemporary societies in East and South-East Asia, Europe and Latin America. The programs provide opportunities for students to study overseas for an academic year at an institution of higher education in the country of their International Studies major.

The key element in the International Studies program is a period of study overseas. In preparation for this, the study of the language and culture, contemporary society, and political and economic structure of the relevant country is necessary.

In the International Studies program, students focus on one of the following countries or majors: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain and Thailand. There is also a Heritage major that permits students with previous exposure to a language and culture to continue their study in countries such as Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, Poland, Russia, Taiwan, the Philippines and Vietnam.

Australia and the Asia-Pacific is only available as a major to international students. International students may access one of the other majors offered, provided that the country they choose as their major is able to grant them a visa to study there. This needs to be determined prior to commencing subjects within the International Studies major. If a visa cannot be granted, then it will not be possible to undertake the chosen major.

Structure of the International Studies program

The program requires both undergraduate students and postgraduate students by coursework to follow a single major—a specialisation in a country or region.

Undergraduate students studying for the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies study four sequential subjects that focus on a relevant language and culture, one subject that introduces students to the study of comparative social change, one subject that examines contemporary society and spend two semesters at an institution of higher education in the country of their major.

- Language and Culture 1-4: four subjects, four semesters 4 x 8cp
- Comparative Social Change: one subject, one semester 8cp
- Contemporary Society: one subject, one semester 8cp
- In-country Study 1-2: two subjects, two semesters overseas 2 x 24cp

Total: 96cp

Postgraduate students studying for the Graduate Diploma in International Studies are required to study two sequential subjects that focus on a relevant language and culture, one subject that introduces students to the study of comparative social change, one subject that examines contemporary society, and approved elective subjects to the value of 16 credit points.

- Language and Culture 1-2: two subjects, two semesters 2 x 8cp
- Comparative Social Change: one subject, one semester 8cp
- Contemporary Society: one subject, one semester 8cp
- Approved electives 16cp

Total: 48cp

Completion of the Graduate Diploma in International Studies is the prerequisite for admission to the Master of Arts in International Studies.

Postgraduate students studying for the Master of Arts in International Studies are required to undertake at least one semester of In-country Study (24 credit points), followed by either another semester of In-country Study, a dissertation in International Studies or a Professional Studies Specialisation, each amounting to 24 credit points.

- In-country Study 1: one subject, one semester 24cp
- One of the following: one semester 24cp
  - In-country Study 2
  - Dissertation
  - Professional Studies Specialisation

Total: 48cp
Students are admitted to the International Studies program with no guarantee of entry to a specific major, although every effort is made to meet students' preferences. The Institute reserves the right to allocate places in majors according to its resources and arrangements with overseas universities.

Note: in general, the International Studies programs have no prior language requirement, except for programs within the Heritage major.

Each student's choice of major and subjects requires the approval of the Board of Studies of the Institute for International Studies.

In exceptional circumstances, students may, with the approval of the Board of Studies of the Institute for International Studies, vary the designated subjects in their International Studies major. Refer to the list of Approved Substitute Subjects in this handbook.

Language and Culture

Language and Culture subjects are an important part of the International Studies program. They are designed to prepare UTS students for further study in a country of their International Studies major.

Students are encouraged to study a language other than English, not only to gain a communication tool, but also to gain an understanding of other cultures and societies. The International Studies program does not give exemptions for any previous study of languages. The Language and Culture subjects admit students at different levels and are able to meet various levels of linguistic competence in order to enhance each student's communicative ability.

Students who start a language at beginners' level on their entry to the International Studies program can expect to acquire survival language skills for their period of In-country Study, and to lay a strong foundation for further language acquisition after graduation.

Students with competence in a language they intend to study are admitted to the Language and Culture subjects at a higher level to reflect their ability in that language. These students are expected to improve their existing skills in speaking, comprehension, reading and writing. Through the process of language acquisition, students are also encouraged to obtain an insight into the relevant culture.

In making its arrangements for the acquisition of language, the International Studies program differentiates between subjects of enrolment and units of instruction. Students in the International Studies program follow a specific Language and Culture program by enrolling in a series of subjects - four for undergraduates in a combined degree with a Bachelor of Arts in International Studies and two for postgraduates in the Postgraduate Coursework Degree Program in International Studies. The subject numbers refer to the sequence of study at UTS and not to the precise contents of the units of instruction. The units of instruction attended by students are determined by the individual's level of language proficiency. All individual choices of units of instruction are subject to the approval of the Board of Studies of the Institute for International Studies.

In exceptional circumstances, students with advanced competence in a language may be exempted from further language study but are required to substitute alternative subjects. Further details are provided under the regulations for Special Arrangements, located in the Majors section of this handbook. Any amendments to the individual student's International Studies program are subject to the approval of the Board of Studies of the Institute for International Studies.

The Language and Culture subjects of the International Studies program are open as electives to all UTS students. Further details may be found under Language Programs in the Subject Descriptions section of this handbook.

Comparative Social Change and Contemporary Society

In each major of the International Studies program, students take two specific subjects which provide an introduction to the history, politics, economics and society of the country or region of their International Studies major. The first subject is Comparative Social Change, which provides an introduction to comparative social change in Europe, Latin America, and East and South-East Asia. All students take this subject to help them locate the culture of their major in its intellectual, social and political contexts. Comparative Social Change is offered in collaboration with the Faculty of Humanities and Social Sciences.

1 With the exception of the Law combined degree in which students undertake the subject 77600 International Legal Studies in lieu of 50140 Comparative Social Change.
The second subject is a Contemporary Society subject, which provides an introduction to a specific country or region in order to ensure that students gain an understanding of its political, social and economic structures, and to identify its more dynamic aspects. No prior knowledge of the culture or skill in the language of the country concerned is required, and all teaching is conducted in English. Contemporary Society subjects are taught by the Institute.

The following Contemporary Society subjects are taken in each major:

- Chile: Contemporary Latin America
- China: Contemporary China
- France: Contemporary Europe
- Germany: Contemporary Europe
- Indonesia: Contemporary South-East Asia
- Italy: Contemporary Europe
- Japan: Contemporary Japan
- Malaysia: Contemporary South-East Asia
- Mexico: Contemporary Latin America
- Spain: Contemporary Europe
- Thailand: Contemporary South-East Asia

Comparative Social Change and Contemporary Society subjects are open as electives to all UTS students.

In-country Study

The overall aim of the In-country Study program is for students to be immersed in the culture of another country by participating in the learning program at the host university, through their involvement in the life of the local community and through their assessable project work.

Undergraduate students undertaking a combined degree with a Bachelor of Arts in International Studies spend two semesters of In-country Study at a university or institution of higher education overseas, determined by the student’s International Studies major. Two subjects are required:

- UTS Autumn semester: In-country Study 1
- UTS Spring semester: In-country Study 2

HECS is payable for both these subjects.

Programs of study depend on the level of language competence attained by the individual student in the language of the student’s major before departure, and the range of subjects available at the host institution.

Student placements at overseas universities and institutions of higher education are arranged, administered and assessed by the Institute for International Studies. All students are expected to complete their programs of In-country Study at host universities, including all examinations and other requirements. Assessment for the subjects In-country Study 1 and In-country Study 2 is based on a combination of moderated assessment from the overseas institution and additional project work, with the overall assessment decided by the Institute.

Postgraduate students undertaking the Master of Arts in International Studies are required to spend one semester at a university or institution of higher education overseas, in a country determined by the student’s International Studies major. A second semester of In-country Study is optional within the student’s International Studies program. The precise content of In-country Study varies with each major; the language proficiency of the individual student and the opportunities available.

Admission to In-country Study

Under normal circumstances, students can only proceed to a period of In-country Study within the International Studies program after they have successfully completed all earlier stages in the degree program. Students who have not successfully completed all earlier stages may proceed to a period of In-country Study only with the permission of both the Dean of the faculty in which their degree is based and the Director of the Institute for International Studies.

Conditions of participation for In-country Study

Before students engage in a period of In-country Study, they may be required to meet appropriate financial and enrolment requirements. They are also required to agree to be governed by the Institute’s Conditions of Participation for the period of In-country Study and to abide by the rules and regulations of the host institution and the laws of the host country. The Conditions of Participation follow:

‘As a student of UTS participating in a period of In-country Study within the International Studies program, I understand that I remain subject to the rules and regulations of UTS and undertake to:

1. accept financial responsibility for all personal expenses, including accommodation and food, during a period of In-country Study
2. meet all academic requirements that precede the period of In-country Study
3. participate in any pre-departure preparation specified by the Institute for International Studies
4. advise the appropriate faculty and the Institute of any changes in an academic program while overseas in accordance with applicable UTS dates and the guidelines of the Institute for International Studies
5. arrange for UTS Students’ Association fees to be paid each semester during the period of In-country Study
6. abide by advice from the Student Administration Unit regarding HECS payments, re-enrolment proxies, and examination assessments
7. abide by the laws of the host country
8. abide by the regulations of the host institution
9. behave personally and professionally in an appropriate manner for a representative of UTS, and
10. consult with staff of the Institute for International Studies and advisers at the host institution should any problems arise in relation to academic or other matters during a period of In-country Study.

I understand that failure to abide by these conditions may result in disciplinary action.'

Prerequisites
Before undertaking the subject In-country Study 1, students need to have successfully completed the required subjects in their International Studies program. These subjects are listed in the majors outlines in this handbook.
Before undertaking In-country Study 2, students need to have successfully completed In-country Study 1.

Content and assessment

Academic support and pastoral care

In-country academic advisers from each host university assist the Institute's staff in monitoring students' progress and provide academic support and pastoral care. At the end of each semester of In-country Study, the host university reports to the Institute on each student's progress. Country coordinators from the Institute for International Studies visit each student at least twice during their in-country placement and regular contact is maintained with students and with the host universities' academic advisers.

Before departure, students receive both a subject outline and a detailed Study Guide which together outline the Study Program for each host university, including the range of subjects available, assessment guidelines and criteria and advice on practical matters associated with settling into the life of the local community. The Study Guide also includes contact numbers for Australian embassies and consulates, which are advised of students' names and programs of study prior to their departure from Australia.

An emergency policy has been developed and students are advised of procedures to follow in the event of an emergency.

Alternative arrangements

Some students may find it impossible to leave or stay away from Australia for a whole year for a variety of reasons. The Institute maintains a system of pastoral care. In exceptional cases, provision is made for students to vary their program of study to fit individual circumstances. Under those circumstances, students may be required to complete their International Studies program by taking subjects from the list of Approved Substitute Subjects in this handbook. Any variation in the International Studies program is subject to the approval of the Board of Studies of the Institute.

The Institute reserves the right to vary the In-country Study component of the International Studies program in the event of unsafe conditions in a particular region.

Costs

In-country Study 1 and In-country Study 2 are full credit subjects at UTS for which HECS is payable. Students receiving student financial support in Australia are still eligible to receive it while they are engaged in the period of In-country Study.

The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship with provision for these costs has been awarded to the student. Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student's tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. Visa fees are also paid by UTS and students are covered by the UTS Overseas Insurance policy. Students are responsible for accommodation and other living costs during the period of In-country Study. The UTS medical service is available to students for medical examinations for visas, vaccinations and other country-specific health advice.
MAJORS

AUSTRALIA AND THE ASIA-PACIFIC REGION MAJOR

Outline

The major on Australia and the Asia-Pacific Region is only offered to international fee-paying students and broadly follows the pattern of other majors in the International Studies program. The major is available in all existing degree programs combined with the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies. This major requires students to study English and the language and culture of Australia, and Australia in its regional context, i.e. the Asia-Pacific region. In some faculties, international students in the Australia and the Asia-Pacific Region major of the International Studies program are able to undertake subjects that enable them to reflect on their professional studies within this regional context.

In general, the English language level for entry to a combined degree program involving International Studies with the Australia and the Asia-Pacific Region major is IELTS 5.5 (with 5.0 in writing) or the TOEFL equivalent. However, students should note that there is some variation across faculties: for combined degrees with Communication the required minimum IELTS entry score is 6.0 (with 6.0 in writing); for Education the required IELTS entry score is 7.0 (with 6.0 in writing). Progress to the second year of the program for international students, in which they commence their professional degree, depends on the student achieving the relevant faculty’s required level of English language competence in reading, writing, speaking and comprehension, which is generally IELTS 6.5 (with 6.0 in writing, or equivalent); IELTS 7.0 for Communication degrees; and IELTS 8.0 for Education.

Students must complete 96 credit points for the Australia and the Asia-Pacific Region major, drawn from the following categories of subjects. A determining factor in the choice and sequencing of subjects is the student’s level of English language competence.

Language and Culture

The number and level of subjects taken are selected to match the student’s level of English language competence. The aim is that by the end of Year 1 students will have reached the required entry level for study in their professional degrees. Students who have achieved that goal by the end of Stage 1 of their combined degree are permitted to take subjects on Australian culture and society in Stage 2 of their first year of study.

50140 Comparative Social Change 8cp
50141 Australian History 8cp

In-country Study

Including subjects from the above two categories, students choose subjects relating to Australia and the Asia-Pacific region to total 96 credit points. Students in the Australia and the Asia-Pacific Region major may study either subjects related to Australia and/or the Asia-Pacific region, or subjects more related to the practice of their professional studies in an Australian context.
Subject descriptions

Australian Politics and the Policy Process
8cp; prerequisite(s): 50109 Power and Change in Australia or 50230 Power and Change in Australia
Disciplinary Strand – Social, Political and Historical Studies – 200 level

This subject examines the complex ways policy is made in the Australian political system. It looks at the role of political parties, pressure groups, the public service, public opinion, the community and the media in influencing and shaping policy proposals. It examines the legal and political framework within which the enactment and implementation of policy occurs. It also considers the impact of globalisation and international law on Australian legislation and its implementation. Students completing this subject are expected to have acquired a basic understanding of processes of policy formulation and enactment in the Australian context, and of the impact of international factors upon Australian policy. They also understand how interventions may be made in the policy process by those seeking social and political change.

Comparative Social Change (U/G)
8cp
Disciplinary Strand – Social, Political and Historical Studies – 200 level
Compulsory subject in the combined degrees with International Studies. This subject is for undergraduate students only. Graduate students refer to 50175.

The aim of this subject is to provide students with an understanding of the processes of modernisation and social change in a comparative context using case studies in countries of Western Europe, Latin America, East and South-East Asia. The lectures highlight a number of key issues, e.g. whether the processes of social change are universal or specific; the consequences of modernisation in and for the economy, politics, society, culture and ideology of non-Western societies; and whether the established Eurocentric analytical models are still useful in understanding the modern world. It is emphasised that differing interpretations of modernisation flow from various relations of power which lead to a multiplicity of views on its meanings and significance.

Australian History
8cp
Disciplinary Strand – Social, Political and Historical Studies – 200 level

This subject surveys Australian history from pre-invasion until the present and explores key debates in Australian historiography. Students become familiar with the current questions of debate including contested nationalisms; class and conflict; colonial and post-colonial relations; popular culture and history; childhood and colonialism; shifts in gender orders; the construction of sexuality; multiculturalism and diasporas; and environment, power and contestation. Students are introduced to basic research methodologies. They develop their analytical skills in a major research project, which focuses on one of the primary themes of the subject through an exploration of a specific event or process.

Outline

Chile runs for some 5,000 km down the west coast mountain spine of Latin America, with the country never wider than 180 km. The landscape is extremely varied, with hot deserts in the north, a fertile 'Mediterranean' heartland, and forests, lakes, and fjords in the south. Because of its relatively stable pace of export-led growth, Chile is often called Latin America's 'tiger' economy, even though much of the population still lives in poverty. Australia is developing strong links with Chile and Chile is also strengthening ties with Asia through its membership of APEC. Despite extreme political experiments during the 1970s, Chile has now recovered its earlier reputation as one of Latin America's most solid and moderate democracies. The country's traditional mestizo, creole, and indigenous cultures survive alongside more cosmopolitan and intellectual influences.

Information on In-country Study in Chile

Content and assessment

Students spend two consecutive semesters studying social science or culture and humanities subjects at one or more institutions of higher education in Chile through arrangements made by the Institute. The focus of study varies each semester depending on individual student preferences and the availability of subjects at host institutions. Students are assessed on each semester separately and assessment is based on the subjects undertaken at the host institutions, as well as project work administered by the Institute for International Studies.

Location

Concepción

Concepción is a medium-sized coastal city south of the capital, Santiago. It is surrounded by forests and fishing villages, with easy access to the lake district, mountains, and Mapuche Indian territories. The university is the third largest in Chile with a wide range of excellent faculties.

Costs

The two semesters of In-country Study are full-credit subjects at UTS for which HECS is payable. Students receiving student financial support in Australia are still eligible to receive it while they are engaged in a period of In-country Study in Chile. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student's tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. Other costs, e.g. accommodation and food, are met by students, who may expect that no greater costs will be incurred through undertaking a period of In-country Study in Chile than are involved in living away from home in Sydney.
The information on the program of In-country Study in Chile is correct at the time of printing. However, the Institute for International Studies reserves the right to make alterations to the location and content of any program of In-country Study at any time.

China is one of the world’s oldest and most far-reaching civilisations. It was also one of the fastest growing economies of the 1990s. These characteristics and the relationship between the various Chinese societies make the study of China and Chinese culture particularly important concerns for Australian students.

In-country Study

- 97711x In-country Study 1: China 24cp
- 97811x In-country Study 2: China 24cp

Descriptions of each subject can be found in the Subject Descriptions section of this handbook.

In exceptional circumstances, students with advanced skills in Chinese are excluded from the Chinese Language and Culture program and are required to substitute other appropriate subjects from the list of Approved Substitute Subjects. These subjects may be other subjects on offer in the International Studies program, including those relating to the study of contemporary society or those focusing on another language and culture. For details of substitute subjects, see the list of Approved Substitute Subjects section of this handbook. Students interested in studying classical Chinese or Chinese at a level not currently offered at UTS should inquire at the Institute about the possibility of undertaking Chinese subjects offered at other institutions. Students need to obtain the approval of the Board of Studies of the Institute before they can vary any of their subjects of study in the International Studies program.

In-country Study 1: China

24cp; prerequisite: completion of relevant subjects appropriate to the student’s International Studies major.

In-country Study subjects are only available to students doing the BA in International Studies.
Information on in-country Study in China

Content and assessment

Through arrangements made by the Institute, students spend two consecutive semesters studying at one of the following universities:

- Zhejiang University, Hangzhou
- Yunnan Normal University, Kunming
- Tianjin Normal University, Tianjin.

In the first semester, the focus is on the study of language and culture. In the second semester, where possible, the study of language and culture is geared more to the professional training of the students. Students are assessed separately on each semester and assessment is based on the subjects undertaken at the host institutions, as well as project and essay work administered by the Institute for International Studies.

Locations

Hangzhou

Hangzhou is the capital of Zhejiang Province on China’s eastern seaboard, just south of Shanghai. The Shanghai hinterland – including Zhejiang and South Jiangsu – developed rapidly during the 1990s. However, this area, and Hangzhou in particular, has long been a centre of Chinese civilisation. Hangzhou is the home of the Chinese silk industry (there is a vast silk market in the centre of town) and a major tea centre (West Lake Dragon’s Well Tea is one of the country’s best known). It is a former capital, famous for its magistrate, poet Su Dongpo (in whose honour a special dish of pork was named – a Hangzhou delicacy), and its West Lake (also in the centre of town). Hangzhou is one of the most pleasant Chinese cities with a fairly mild climate and a manageable population crush. Zhejiang University in Hangzhou is one of China’s top 10 universities and is one of the three leading technological universities. It is particularly well known for its studies of engineering (of all kinds), ophthalmics and economics.

Kunming

Kunming is the capital of Yunnan Province in the south-west of China, known as the ‘City of Spring’ for its mild climate all year round. Yunnan is the most geographically varied area of China, with terrain as widely divergent as tropical rainforest and icy Tibetan highlands. Yunnan is home to many ethnic minorities, particularly to Yi, Hui and Miao groups. Kunming has a population of about 3.5 million, of which minorities account for 6 per cent. Students attend Yunnan Normal University in Kunming, which is one of the main institutions of higher learning for training teachers in Yunnan Province. It has a student population of about 15,000, one third of them living on campus. It is situated among other tertiary institutions close to the centre of Kunming.

Tianjin

Tianjin lies 120 kilometres to the south-east of Beijing and is connected with the national capital by both railway and freeway. It is the largest open seaport and one of the most important industrial, commercial and cultural centres in North China. It was named ‘Heavenly City’ by Marco Polo, a great Italian traveller in the 12th century, and ranks 15th among the largest metropolises in the world today. It used to be a treaty port with large areas claimed by Western powers as concessions, and many European-style structures have survived intact. Since the 1980s Tianjin has been in the forefront of China’s opening to the outside world and currently more than 8,000 foreign-funded firms are in operation in the city. Tianjin Normal University is the key comprehensive teachers training institution in Tianjin. It is well-known for language and culture studies and has over 30 years of experience in providing academic programs for overseas students.

Costs

The two semesters of In-country Study are full-credit subjects at UTS for which HECS is payable. Students receiving student financial support in Australia are still eligible to receive it while they are engaged in a period of In-country Study in China. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student’s tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. Other costs, e.g. accommodation and food, are met by students, who may expect that no greater costs will be incurred through undertaking a period of In-country Study in China than are involved in living away from home in Sydney.

The information on the program of In-country Study in China is correct at the time of printing. However, the Institute for International Studies reserves the right to make alterations to the location and content of any program of In-country Study at any time.

FRANCE MAJOR

Outline

France is known for its key role in the history and development of European culture and its rich traditions, from literature and the arts through to cuisine, sports and style. Modern France, while preserving a strong link to the land, is also at the forefront of many technological advances. A leading international player, its recent history has seen the country retain a strong republican model of state, enabling it to remain both fiercely independent and at the same time central to the European Union. Geographically diverse, it is often said that France offers all the landscapes of Europe in microcosm. From the Mediterranean to the English Channel, each region has a strong local identity, often retaining ties with older cultures and its many neighbours. Partner universities reflect this range, including sites in Normandy and Brittany in the North, the Champagne region, the Rhineland neighbouring Germany, the south coast, and the Atlantic west. The French language, traditionally the language of diplomacy, is shared by many other countries throughout the world, and the Francophone element of this major reflects this by including partner universities in Switzerland and Quebec, Canada.

Information on In-country Study in France, Quebec (Canada) and Lausanne (Switzerland)

Content and assessment
Students spend two consecutive semesters studying at one of the following universities or institutes:

• Université de Bordeaux 3, Michel Montaigne
• Université de Caen, Basse Normandie
• Institut National des Télécommunications, Evry
• Université de Lausanne, Switzerland
• Université Laval, Quebec
• Université de Lyon 2, Lumière
• Université de Poitiers
• Université de Reims, Champagne-Ardenne
• Université de Rennes 2, Haute Bretagne
• Université de Strasbourg, Robert Schuman
• Université de Toulon et du Var.

The location and content of each student’s period of In-country Study in France, Quebec (Canada) or Lausanne (Switzerland) is determined by the level of their language competence in French. Generally speaking, students who have a sound working knowledge of French before their entrance to UTS — usually defined as HSC 3-unit or a good pass in 2-unit French — can study at any of the above-mentioned universities. Such students study an appropriate two-semester program of host university subjects broadly relating to French and Francophone language, society and culture.

All other students spend a first semester engaged in the study of language and culture at the universities offering special language programs, going on to a second semester of subjects chosen more broadly from the university’s curriculum. Special language provision is currently available at Bordeaux, Caen’s Centre d'Enseignement Universitaire International pour Étrangers (CIEUE), Lausanne’s Ecole de Français Moderne, Laval’s École des Langues Vivantes, Lyon’s Centre Internationale d’Etudes Françaises (CIEF), Poitiers, the Centre International Rennais d’Etudes de Français pour Étrangers (CIREFE) and the Centre International d’Etudes Françaises (CIEF) in Reims.

Students are assessed on each semester separately. Assessment is based on the subjects studied at the host university, as well as project work and other tests administered by the Institute for International Studies.

Locations

Bordeaux

Capital of Aquitaine, Bordeaux is a city known largely for its wine production, and its port. Situated on the river Garonne, it is close to the Pyrenees in the south-west of France, and also within range of the Atlantic beaches. Its heritage is reflected in the eighteenth century architecture and impressive literary and artistic tradition.

The Université Michel Montaigne has a strong emphasis on French art and culture, with teaching that covers literature, philosophy, history, art history and archeology, geography, and languages. The campus, nestled among vineyards, is a bus ride from the city centre.

Caen

Caen is located in Normandy, near the north coast of France. The city is built of golden stone and is rich in historical associations, which range from abbeys and a chateau commenced by William the Conqueror, through to the D-Day beach landings of the Second World War.

The University is over five centuries old, but the original buildings were destroyed (like much of Caen) during the Second World War. It is now housed in impressive buildings built with international funding around 1950 — the University’s emblem is the phoenix as a... symbol of rebirth. It has 26,000 students, and faculties of Political Science, Law, Economics and Management, Psychology, History, Physical Science and Sport, as well as a number of teaching institutions. It also has highly respected, well-developed language and cultural programs conducted through its associated language centre.

Evry
Situated just south of Paris, Evry is a new town which combines a number of existing villages with more modern buildings. It is home to the Cathédrale de la Résurrection, constructed in 1995, and is close to the much-debated Disneyland-Paris.

The Institut National des Télécommunications – strictly speaking part of the prestigious grande école system rather than a University – offers a range of teaching, research and consultancy activities in the fields of management and engineering. Particular strengths include mobile communications, information systems, multimedia and marketing. Students from UTS typically follows a combination of language classes, human sciences options with relevance to French culture and society, and intercultural communications programs, with additional options in the professional subjects where appropriate.

Lausanne [Switzerland]
Lausanne, in French-speaking Switzerland, is in a stunningly beautiful location, built on a series of steep hills with views of Lake Geneva and the snow-capped mountains of the Alps in the distance. The built environment isn't as charming as the natural one, but there are still pockets of medieval buildings, lovely seventeenth century monuments such as the town hall and wonderfully ornate hotels and blocks of apartments, with florid wrought iron decoration, from the late nineteenth century. As the seat of the International Olympic Committee, Lausanne also offers a natural point of exchange with Sydney, as well as a healthy sporting environment.

The University of Lausanne (UNIL) has around 10,000 students and seven schools – Law, Arts, Social and Political Sciences (including Sports Sciences), Business, Science, Medicine, and Religious Studies, mainly located at Dorigny, on the banks of Lake Geneva, a ten minute metro ride from the city centre.

Lyon
The Lyon region is a fast-growing area of the French economy. It is well integrated with European markets as well as being well-placed for physical contacts with Germany, Italy and Switzerland, all of which are relatively easy to access by road. Lyon itself is a large provincial city, with late medieval and 19th century precincts as well as extensive modern development.

The original Université de Lyon was established last century, with the arts and humanities elements becoming the national Université Lumière Lyon 2 in the early 1980s. The university has a campus in the centre of the city, and another much larger campus at Bron, about 30 minutes from the city centre.

Poitiers
Situated near the Atlantic coast, Poitiers retains an old city centre boasting many of the finest Romanesque churches in France. At the other end of the spectrum, it is also home to the futuristic theme park Futuroscope. Nearby attractions include the holiday resort of La Rochelle, the island of Oléron, and Angoulême, home of France's national comic books museum.

The University, founded as long ago as 1431, has made a full contribution to European thought, with writers such as Descartes and Francis Bacon having studied there. Today it offers an up-to-date multidisciplinary education with strengths in human sciences and the arts, language and literature, sciences and law, and new technologies.

Quebec City [Quebec, Canada]
Described as the cradle of French civilization in North America, Quebec City is the capital of the province. Dating back to 1608, when it began as a fur-trading post, Quebec's architecture reflects its position as a crossroads between Europe and America, earning it a place among UNESCO's world heritage sites. With a culture combining French, British, North American and indigenous traditions, the city has a population of over half a million. The natural environment is equally magnificent: with the St Lawrence river at its heart, the province is characterised by forests, lakes and mountains and enjoys contrasting climates of hot summers, snowy winters (ideal for skiing, snowboarding, skating and other activities, as well as providing a Christmas card cityscape) and spectacular Autumns.
Université Laval, founded in 1852, is the oldest French language university in America. Its student population of almost 35,000 enjoys a rich calendar of extra-curricular activities. Faculties include Science and Engineering, Health Sciences, Arts, and Social Sciences and Management, and students can choose from a wide range of options relating to French and Quebecois culture and society.

Reims
Reims is in the heart of the Champagne region. It is not a large city, but it attracts substantial numbers of tourists because of its cathedral and its associations with Joan of Arc, the King of France and the Holy Roman Emperor. Reims is about one-and-a-half hours from Paris by train and is close to Belgium. The Université de Reims – Champagne-Ardenne is a comprehensive national university and has faculties of Science, Applied Science, Health Sciences and Engineering, as well as of Arts and Humanities, and Wine-making. The current university dates from the post-war era and at present has about 30,000 students who attend a number of different campuses spread throughout the city.

Rennes
Rennes is the capital of Brittany and the centre of Celtic culture and traditions in France. It has a population of about 330,000, of whom 60,000 are students. Rennes is a mixture of late medieval, timbered buildings and elegant 18th and 19th century urban planning. The Atlantic coast is less than an hour away, and Paris is a two-hour trip by TGV (high speed train). The present university was established in 1969 and is one of two universities in Rennes. It has 21,000 students enrolled in five faculties – Languages, Social Sciences, Arts/Letters/Communications, Human Sciences (including linguistics, psychology, education, sociology) and Physical Education and Sports.

Strasbourg
Strasbourg titles itself ‘the capital of Europe’. It is the location of the European Parliament and the Council of Europe, and is a centre for economic development which is rapidly expanding and progressing. Strasbourg has great pride in its local identity, but is also very cosmopolitan. The city has extensive late medieval sections, an imposing Gothic cathedral and impressive modern buildings created for the European institutions located in Strasbourg. With three universities, Strasbourg has a student population of around 50,000. L’Université Robert Schuman has a Faculty of Law, plus Institutes for Political Science, Business and Management Studies. The University does not have a single campus, but most of the buildings in which it is located are just outside the centre of the city, in an area built in the late 19th and 20th centuries.

Toulon
Toulon is a port city on the Mediterranean coast, with an impressive naval history. Toulon is part of the French Riviera with Nice and Marseilles within easy train trips. The Université de Toulon et du Var is located at La Garde, a modern suburb that has grown from an old town approximately 10 kilometres from the port area of Toulon and 5 kilometres from the beach. The University was established in 1968 and has approximately 10,000 students, enrolled in five faculties – Law, Arts, Economics and Management, Science and Technology, and Engineering. The Université de Toulon also has an associated Technological Institute. The programs at Toulon are best suited for Business and Law students.

Costs
The two semesters of In-country Study are full-credit subjects at UTS for which HECS is payable. Students receiving student financial support in Australia are still eligible to receive it while they are engaged in a period of In-country Study in France. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student’s tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. Other costs, e.g. accommodation and food, are met by students who should be aware that costs of living in France are generally slightly higher than in Australia, though the cost of student accommodation is very reasonable.

Students in France are charged a non-refundable state medical insurance fee (sécurité sociale) for each semester of study. Details are liable to variation, but students should set aside a total of around A$500 for this cost, which the Institute regrets it is unable to meet on students' behalf. Semesters spent entirely in a language school are normally exempt from this payment. The cost of living in Switzerland and Québec is currently higher than in France, with eating out in Switzerland particularly expensive. However, affordable accommodation is available in each location, and it is possible to spend a year in either one on an amount roughly comparable to living away from home in Sydney.

The information on the program of In-country Study in France is correct at the time of printing. However, the Institute for International Studies reserves the right to make alterations to the location and content of any program of In-country Study at any time.

GERMANY MAJOR

Outline

Germany is Europe's largest and richest country, and plays a leading role in the politics of the European Community and on the world stage. In addition, Germany has a long history, and a rich and varied culture. German is the native language of more than 100 million people worldwide. About one in every 10 books ever published has been in German; and German music traditions have been at the centre of the baroque, classical, and orchestral movements as well as 20th century musical developments.

There are no restrictions on entry to the Germany major of the International Studies program. Students who already have a sound working knowledge of German on entry to UTS have more options for the development of their study program when they undertake In-country Study in Germany. However, it is also possible to enter the Germany major with no previous knowledge of the German language.

Content and assessment
Through arrangements made by the Institute, students spend two consecutive semesters studying at one of the following universities:

- Gerhard Mercator Universität Duisburg, Duisburg
- Universität Hamburg, Hamburg
- Hochschule für Wirtschaft und Politik (HWP) Hamburg, Hamburg
- Universität Karlsruhe, Karlsruhe
- Universität Konstanz, Konstanz
- Universität des Saarlandes, Saarbrücken
- Universität Tübingen, Tübingen
- Justus-Liebig-University, Giessen.

The location and content of each student’s period of In-country Study in Germany is determined by the level of their language competence in German. Students who have a sound working knowledge of German before their entrance to UTS – usually defined as HSC 3-unit or a good pass in 2-unit German – can study at any of the above-mentioned universities. All other students spend two consecutive semesters engaged in the study of German language and culture at the universities offering special language programs. Students are assessed on each semester separately and assessment is based on the subjects undertaken at the host institutions, as well as project work administered by the Institute for International Studies.

Locations

Duisburg
Duisburg is an old medieval port on the Rhine in the heart of Germany’s industrial Ruhr, just north of Köln and Düsseldorf (with which it shares an international airport). The city has been almost completely rebuilt since the Second World War and has an excellent public transport system.

The Gerhard Mercator University of Duisburg was established during the 1950s and is particularly well known for its business, economics and engineering faculties. There are opportunities for work experience placements.

Giessen (Gießen)

The university town of Giessen is situated on the River Lahn in the midst of pleasant countryside surroundings. About three quarters of the town, which was founded in the 13th century, was destroyed by heavy air raids in the Second World War. Today’s Giessen presents a picture of a modern, functional town of roughly 78,000 inhabitants which was developed into the commercial, economic and service centre of the entire region of central Hesse.

The Justus-Liebig-University in Giessen combines state-of-the-art research and teaching with the traditions of a university which is almost 400 years old. With approximately 22,000 students, Giessen ranks among Germany’s middle-sized universities. The spectrum of subjects, such as classical sciences, law, economics, social sciences, education and language and cultural studies, provides a particularly wide range of teaching and diversity in the area of research.

Hamburg

Hamburg is Germany’s northern port and an old Hanseatic town. ‘Deutschland’s Tor zur Welt’ ranks second in number of inhabitants amongst German cities. It is undoubtedly the centre of the German media – both print and broadcasting – and is home to the ‘DPA’ (Deutsche Presse-Agentur). It has a north European climate and is often cold and wet by Sydney standards. However, it has an active street life and extracurricular activities and is one of the most interesting cities in Germany.

HWP Hamburg is a small (2,500 students) but prestigious university in the centre of the city’s university area. It shares facilities with the University of Hamburg and other adjacent colleges. It has a reputation for non-traditional forms of education and specialises in the study of business, law, economics, and politics, society and culture.

Students may also attend the University of Hamburg, which was established in 1919.
With 43,000 students, the University ranks fifth in size among the institutions of higher education in Germany. The University’s centre is its campus at Von-Melle-Park, which is located close to the lake in the heart of Hamburg. The University is spread over 270 buildings and therefore various university facilities are to be found in different parts of Hamburg.

The teaching and research conducted at the University is both broad and diverse in scope, with some 100 fields of study. The traditions and interests of Hamburg as a cosmopolitan centre of commerce are characteristic features of the University. It is well known for its languages and cultural studies, law, medicine, and earth sciences.

Karlsruhe

The unique urban planning of Karlsruhe in the early 18th century with its streets and avenues radiating in all directions from the palace, is still visible and facilitates orientation. Karlsruhe is a city of trade and it is the seat of the Bundesverfassungsgericht (Federal Constitutional Court). It has a population of 270,000 and it is located at the northern tip of the Black Forest, very close to France.

The Universität Karlsruhe is the oldest technological university in Germany, founded in 1832. The campus is located in the city centre of Karlsruhe. The University has approximately 17,000 students enrolled in 12 faculties (Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Earth Sciences, Humanities and Social Sciences, Architecture, Civil Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Chemical Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Computer Science, and Economics).

Konstanz

Konstanz is a rather small city in the southwest of Germany. It has a lovely medieval centre and the city is surrounded by the Swiss border, Lake Constance and the Rhine. It is an exceptionally prosperous part of Germany, with a very long history.

The pre-alpine climate is mild and the region belongs to a part of Germany which receives relatively little rain. The Black Forest can be reached in about one hour and Konstanz praises itself as an ideal starting point for mountain trips in the Swiss, Austrian and German Alps.

The University of Konstanz was established in 1966, and is one of the younger German universities. As part of its policies as a ‘reform university’, it is a student-oriented university, with approximately 8,500 students. From its inception, the University of Konstanz focused on new courses of studies and study models designed to encourage interdisciplinary cooperation. It houses nine faculties and it is most famous for its Departments of Economics, Public Policy and Cultural Studies. It is located on a campus about 10 minutes by bus from the city, on the shore of Lake Constance, opposite the island and castle of Mainau. It is well served by public transport, as is Konstanz.

Potsdam

Potsdam became the capital of the state of Brandenburg after German unification in 1990. It is located on the Havel River, and borders on the south-west suburbs of Berlin. In the 17th and 18th centuries Potsdam was the residence of the royal family of Prussia. The Sans Souci Palace and the New Palace, both built by Friedrich II in the middle of the 18th century, are among the architectural wonders of the city. Potsdam is Germany’s main centre of film production, with a famous studio in Babelsberg and an equally prominent College of Film and Television.

The University of Potsdam aims at being a ‘small but excellent’ institution of higher education with a traditional, generalist profile for 12,000 students. About 250 professors and 600 other academic staff are engaged in teaching and research. Its faculties are Law, Mathematics and Science, Arts, Human Sciences, Economics and Social Science. Special emphasis is put on the four ‘flagship’ areas: general linguistics including computer linguistics; history with a focus on modern history and European Judaism; science and mathematics; and the Potsdam teacher training model. This last area offers an integrated and overlapping education as well as comprehensive advanced training for the teaching profession.

Saarbrücken

Saarbrücken is the capital of Saarland, a state located on Germany’s border with France and Luxembourg. It prides itself on being at the crossroads of Europe, and the university (which was established during the 1950s in a former French barracks) has developed courses and subjects accordingly. The university is particularly famous for its Computing Studies, Law and Education faculties. It has been a pioneer in bilingual education and the development of European studies.
Tübingen

For more than 5,000 years, the University has played a role in developing the character of the city of Tübingen, weaving its inner social fabric and its economic structure. With a population of 85,000 and a ratio of some 26,000 students, Tübingen has the largest student density of all German university towns. It is not only an intellectual city where major contributions to European intellectual history are written, but also a very romantic town with many beautiful half-timbered houses.

The University of Tübingen is a classical university offering over 70 degree courses in 16 faculties. The range of subjects includes Protestant and Catholic theology, law, economics, business administration, the social sciences and cultural studies, all of the major languages and modern sciences, as well as medicine, earth sciences and computer science.

Costs

The two semesters of In-country Study are full-credit subjects at UTS for which HECS is payable. Students receiving student financial support in Australia are still eligible to receive it while they are engaged in a period of In-country Study in Germany. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student’s tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. However, the cost of living in Germany is high. In parts of Germany, it may be as high or higher than in Sydney. On the whole, accommodation is cheaper than in Sydney but food is considerably more expensive. Monthly costs in Saarbrücken are about the same as in Sydney, and Duisburg is slightly more expensive. The cost of living in Hamburg is estimated to be the highest in Europe (1996) and it is consequently considerably more expensive to live there than in Sydney.

INDONESIA MAJOR

Outline

Indonesia is Australia’s closest Asian neighbour. Indonesia’s vast population, rich cultural diversity, and its relative accessibility make the study of Indonesia an extremely attractive option for Australian students. The Indonesian language program accepts students with varying degrees of language ability, ranging from complete beginners to advanced levels. UTS is a member of the Australia–Indonesia Consortium for In-country Studies, and students in the International Studies program study in Indonesia with other students from all over Australia under its auspices.

Content and assessment
Students spend two consecutive semesters studying language and culture at the Universitas Gadjah Mada, Yogyakarta, through arrangements made by the Institute. Depending upon their level of language competence, students choose one of three options each semester. These are: study of language and culture; or immersion, i.e. attendance at university courses on Indonesian culture and society; or participation in a field study program. Students are assessed on each semester separately and assessment is based on the subjects undertaken at the host institution, as well as project work administered by the Institute for International Studies.

Location
Yogyakarta

Yogyakarta is one of the art centres of Indonesia. It has an array of fine architecture and cultural offerings, from the performing arts to visual arts and intricate crafts. It also has a rich political and social history, being the site of nationalist revolutionary activity during the mid-1940s and the centre of an active sultanate. The region is given a distinguished place by the Indonesian government, being designated Daerah Istimewa (special region). The Universitas Gadjah Mada (UGM), Yogyakarta, dates back to 1946, when during the turmoil of independence wars, a private foundation was established in Yogyakarta by a group of Indonesian intellectuals and nationalists under the auspices of the Sultan of Yogyakarta. Now it is one of the biggest universities in the country with more than 37,000 students and over 2,000 faculty members.

Costs
The two semesters of In-country Study are full-credit subjects at UTS for which HECS is payable. Students receiving student financial support in Australia are still eligible to receive it while they are engaged in a period of In-country Study in Indonesia. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student’s tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. Students may expect that no greater costs will be incurred through undertaking a period of In-country Study in Indonesia other than are involved in living away from home in Sydney.

ITALY MAJOR

Outline

Italy is one of the most advanced European countries and one of the eight most industrialised countries in the world. Although its history as an independent, democratic state is relatively recent, dating back to 1946, Italy has undergone a powerful process of modernisation and industrialisation in the last half century. Italy has a very substantial historical heritage and a fairly large population (ca. 60,000,000) spread over a relatively small territory (330,000 km²). The combination of industrial advancement and historical tradition has its contradictions but makes Italy extremely attractive for students. Italy has about 50 per cent of the art works and historical buildings of the entire Western world. Italy has a dual identity: while towns are blossoming as trade, tertiary and industrial locations, the countryside preserves most of its poetic beauty and agriculture still plays a substantial role in the overall economy. Italy can be ideally divided into two parts. Northern Italy is the most advanced, whereas in Central and Southern Italy the economy has been facing several difficulties since the unification in 1861. A student spending a year in Italy may well appreciate all these aspects plus many more, thus gaining an invaluable human and learning experience, while at the same time learning useful skills and getting an overall view of a modern and advanced European country—a country whose historical, cultural and economic links with Australia have been very strong since the beginning of the 20th century.

Students spend two consecutive semesters studying language and culture at the University of Bologna through arrangements made by the Institute for International Studies. Students are assessed on each semester separately and assessment is based on the subjects undertaken at the host institutions, as well as project and essay work administered by the Institute for International Studies.

Locations

The Italy major has provision for both beginners and those who have previously studied Italian. The choice of location will depend primarily on the level of Italian language proficiency attained by each student prior to their period of In-country Study.

Bologna

Bologna is one of the most vibrant Italian cities. Nestled at the centre of the rich and lively Emilia-Romagna region, Bologna boasts splendid monuments, a lifestyle well above the Italian average, and a huge offering in terms of culture, sport and entertainment. The historical centre is one of the best preserved all over Italy, and contains churches and palaces dating back to the renaissance and the baroque periods, and the 18th and 19th centuries. Bologna is also a very important industrial centre. The climate can be very cold in the winter. Bologna is also close to the Riviera Adriatica, a well-known vacation resort, overcrowded during the summer, but still attractive for its many amenities. Bologna also has important libraries (Biblioteca dell'
The University of Bologna, founded in 1088, is one of the oldest universities in the world. The campus is a city campus, housed in splendid renaissance buildings, such as the newly renovated San Giovanni al Monte, a former prison, now the seat of the History department. With around 80,000 students the university of Bologna is also one of the biggest in the country. Students can also study at one of Bologna University’s regional campuses. Students less fluent in Italian can attend intensive language courses in the nearby town of Forlì, 63 km away from Bologna.

Other locations
In addition to Bologna, a number of other In-country Study universities will be available to students from 2002 onwards. The selection of new sites will reflect Italy’s regional diversity, as well as offer opportunities for professional development in a wide range of academic fields at tertiary institutions of considerable prestige and with a long-standing tradition.

JAPAN MAJOR

Outline
Japan is Australia’s single most important trade partner and the major economic power in the Asia-Pacific region. Japan’s rich culture, history and international relations are clearly of more than passing concern. The Japanese language program has provision for both complete beginners and those who have previously studied Japanese. The cost of living in Japan is high, and for that reason, entry to this major is limited.

Content and assessment

Through arrangements made by the Institutes, students spend two consecutive semesters studying at one of the following universities:

- Hokkaido University of Education at Hakodate Campus, Hakodate
- Yokohama National University, Yokohama
- Yamanashi University, Kofu
- Obirin University, Machida
- Kagoshima University on the island of Kyushu
- Osaka Prefecture University, Osaka
- Sapporo University on the island of Hokkaido
- Kyoto University of Foreign Studies, Kyoto
- Gifu University, Gifu.

The location and content of each student's period of In-country Study are determined by the student's level of language competence in Japanese. Students who have a sound working knowledge of Japanese prior to undertaking their period of In-country Study, are able to attend classes alongside local students in a broad range of subjects. All other students devote the first semester to the study of language and culture subjects. In the second semester students, depending on their acquired level of language proficiency, may choose their subjects more broadly from the university's curriculum.

Locations

Gifu

Gifu Prefecture is located on central Honshu, strategically between Kyoto and Tokyo. A manufacturing and railway centre, it is known for its paper and textile industries as well as its trout fishing. Gifu University is a national university located in the prefectural capital.

Hakodate

A tourist city located in the south of Hokkaido Island, Hakodate was a port between Honshu and Hokkaido. Hokkaido University of Education, with a campus located in the middle of the city of Hakodate, is a national university which specialises in teacher education.

Kagoshima

Kagoshima is located at the south-west tip of mainland Japan surrounded by the Pacific Ocean and East China Sea. The Kirishima volcano area is found in this central zone resulting in an extraordinarily large number of hot spring baths. One of Kagoshima's greatest contributions to modern Japan is its role over the centuries as a gateway for trade and exchange between Japan and the world. Japan has traditionally been a closed culture and only recently pursued international ties. Kagoshima is the Catalyst City credited for 'opening Japan to the World'. Geographically it was conveniently accessible to many of the foreign ship trade routes along the East China coast. In the mid-18th century, many youth of Kagoshima, like Takamori Saigo and Toshimichi Ohkubo, made a great contribution to the Meiji restoration.

Kyoto

Kyoto was the cultural centre of Japan for about 1,000 years. Kyoto University of Foreign Studies is a private university specialising in international studies.

Obirin

Machida is one of the residential satellite cities of Tokyo. Obirin is a rather small but internationalised private university. It offers special programs through its School of International Studies.

Osaka

Osaka is located approximately in the centre of Japan and has a population of 8.8 million or 7 per cent of the entire Japanese population, making it the second most populous prefecture after Tokyo. As the seat of the nation's oldest capital and a hub of marine transportation, Osaka has been an economic and cultural centre of the nation since primitive times. As one of the major metropolitan areas of Japan today, the central area has the look of a modern city. However, it still manages to combine the old and the new, offering a variety of scenery and strong local feel.

Sapporo

Sapporo is a metropolitan city located on the western plains of Hokkaido, the northern most island of Japan. Sapporo, due to its relatively short history, has successfully utilised an advanced overseas method of urbanisation. As a result, the city's districts are organised in an effective way with wide roads. Sapporo continues to lead the area as a centre of northern culture with more and more famous musical festivals and parades being held in the city in recent times.

Yamanashi
Kofu is a historic city located in Yamanashi Prefecture, one-and-a-half hours by rail from the Tokyo metropolitan area. Yamanashi University is a national university with two faculties, Education and Engineering.

Yokohama
One of the biggest international port cities in the world, Yokohama witnessed key changes in Japan's modern history. Yokohama National University offers special Japanese culture and language programs. The University also has a Faculty of Business Administration where students with an appropriate level of language competence may be able to attend classes in their subjects.

Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student's tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general.

Other costs, e.g. accommodation and food, are met by students, who should be aware that the cost of living in Japan is very high and has been estimated to be the highest in the world.

MALAYSIA MAJOR

Outline
Malaysia is one of the founding members of ASEAN (the Association of South-East Asian Nations). In economic terms, its response to the Asian financial crisis has stimulated international interest. Culturally, Malaysia consists of a rich amalgam of immigrant and indigenous cultures. Its close proximity to Australia makes the study of Malaysia and Malaysian particularly relevant. The Malaysian Language and Culture program concentrates on the training of students who are either complete beginners or have a basic knowledge of Malaysian through previous experience or study.

Content and assessment

In choosing a Malaysia major, students may choose either Penang or Borneo. Those students who choose Penang spend two consecutive semesters at Universiti Sains Malaysia where they undertake a combination of Malay language subjects and subjects about Malaysian culture and society. Nursing students may choose to spend part of their time at the medical campus of Universiti Sains Malaysia (Kubung Kerian) in Kota Bharu on the east coast of the Malay peninsula.

Those students who choose Borneo spend the first semester at Universiti Malaysia Sabah in Kota Kinabalu where they undertake a Malay language and culture course. For their second semester, students may choose to stay on in Sabah or move to Sarawak where they attend the Universiti Malaysia Sarawak in Kuching. Subjects taken pertain to Malaysian culture and society.

Students are assessed on each semester separately and assessment is based on the subjects undertaken at the host institutions, as well as project work administered by the Institute for International Studies.

Locations

Penang

Penang was the first of the Straits Settlements areas in which the British set up their empire trading outposts in the 18th century. It is now a bustling economic and tourist centre with some of the largest semiconductor factories in the world and a plethora of high-rise hotels along the northern beaches. The Universiti Sains Malaysia (USM), Penang, was established as the second university in the country in 1969. It was first known as Universiti Pulau Pinang. In 1971, it took over the former military camp at Minden, a 239.4 hectare site which is about 10 kilometres south of the city of Georgetown. The student population has expanded rapidly and is now almost 19,000. Further expansion saw the setting up of two branch campuses at Kubang Kerian, Kelantan, and Tronoh, Perak; the former houses the medical school and University Hospital, while the latter houses the existing five engineering schools.

Sabah

Sabah occupies the top portion of the island of Borneo (the third largest island in the world). It is a melting pot of many indigenous and immigrant groups who have distinctive cultural practices and belief systems. For instance, the Bajau are dubbed the ‘cowboys of the east’ because of their skilled horsemanship. Sabah is also known as a place for diving and mountain climbing because of its beautiful beaches and the challenge of Mt Kinabalu (4094 m). Borneo is rich in native flora and fauna including mountain orchids and the orang-utan. Universiti Malaysia Sabah has a new campus which overlooks the South China Sea to the west and Mt Kinabalu to the east.

Sarawak

Sarawak is the largest state in Malaysia with a riverine and forest hinterland. It lies in the northwest of the island of Borneo and along with neighbouring Sabah, makes up east Malaysia. Sarawak was under the loose control of the sultanate of Brunei from the 15th to the early 19th century. An English adventurer, James Brooke, arrived in what is now the capital, Kuching, in 1839 and subsequently became the first of the ‘white rajahs’. The ‘white rajahs’ ruled until the Second World War, after which Sarawak formally became a British colony. It became part of Malaysia in 1963 and now shows signs of rapid integration into the global economy.

Universiti Malaysia Sarawak (UNIMAS) is a new university which commenced in 1994. It is located at Kota Samarahan, about 15 kilometres from Kuching.

MEXICO MAJOR

Outline

Mexico is a large, rapidly developing country with a fascinating history. Pre-colonial civilisations, conquest, Spanish settlement, and popular revolution have all left their mark on contemporary culture and society. The Indian and mestizo populations maintain strong native traditions. Mexico has outstanding architecture, traditional as well as modern art and design, cuisine, and popular music. Its geographic position between the United States and Latin America also gives the country special characteristics and helps shape national consciousness. The migration of Mexican workers, the establishment of border industries, and the NAFTA free trade agreement offer Mexico unique opportunities to integrate with the world’s largest economy. The country has recently made a historic transition to genuine multi-party democracy.

Students are assessed on each semester separately and assessment is based on the subjects undertaken at the host institutions, as well as project work administered by the Institute for International Studies.

Location
Xalapa, Veracruz
The Universidad Veracruzana is located in Xalapa, which lies 130 kilometres from the historic port of Veracruz on the Gulf of Mexico. Xalapa, the state capital, is a charming, medium-sized market city and administration centre located in green hills above semitropical lowlands. According to one guide book, Xalapa is one of Mexico’s ‘least known gems’.

The University has a wide range of faculties. Its Anthropology, Arts, and History departments are particularly well known. Students are based initially in the University’s small School for Foreign Students (EEE) in the centre of town, but are able to study most of their subjects alongside Mexican university students.

Spain occupies the south-western tip of Europe, along with Portugal. This location has made both nations an important geographical, historical, religious, linguistic and cultural contact zone where Europe and Africa have met and coexisted, often uneasily. Spain was ruled by General Franco in one of Europe’s longest fascist dictatorships, from 1939 to 1975. Since 1975 and the restitution of constitutional monarchy, however, Spain has not only democratised but also become a key player in drives to a European Union. While Castilian (Spanish or Castellano) is the official language, other languages (Basque, Catalan, Galician) reflect the profound cultural heterogeneity of a nation that was also the centre of an immense international empire from 1492 to 1898.

Students in the Spain major have the opportunity to learn Castilian, to learn about Spain and Spain’s place in European and international affairs, and to spend an academic year of study at universities in Barcelona, Salamanca and Málaga. The UTS Language and Culture program accepts students with varying degrees of language ability ranging from complete beginners to native speakers.

Content and assessment
Students spend two consecutive semesters studying language and culture at one of the following sites through arrangements made by the Institute:
- Universidad de Salamanca, Salamanca
- Universidad de Málaga, Málaga
- Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona, Barcelona.

Students are assessed on each semester separately and assessment is based on subjects undertaken at the host institutions, as well as project work administered by the Institute for International Studies.

Locations
Barcelona

Barcelona, the second largest city in Spain, and the capital of the Autonomous Community of Catalonia, has long been a centre for artistic and architectural developments, as well as social progressiveness. It has also been one of the most industrialised of Spanish cities.

Students who select Barcelona for their period of In-country Study spend two consecutive semesters studying language and culture at la Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona (UAB) through arrangements made by the Institute. In the first semester they further their Spanish-language skills, and if their Spanish levels permit, they will have access to other subjects as determined by UAB. Catalan classes are also an option. During the second semester, students attend regular classes at UAB from a list of options on contemporary Catalan and Spanish history, culture, politics, economics, and society.
Málaga

Málaga is a thriving town on Spain's south Mediterranean coast, a popular international tourist destination. The town is also very close to some of the most historically and architecturally significant cities in the Autonomous Community of Andalusia, such as Granada and Córdoba. The Universidad de Málaga was founded as recently as 1972, and is a modern and well-equipped tertiary institution.

In their first and second semesters, UTS students at the Universidad de Málaga undertake Spanish language classes, and two elective subjects from the regular curriculum of the university.

Salamanca

Salamanca is a small university town some two-and-a-half hours by road from Madrid, in the Autonomous Community of León. The old city centre, where the University itself is located, contains some of the finest examples of medieval, renaissance and baroque architecture in Spain. Founded in 1218, the Universidad de Salamanca has dominated the town for centuries, and classes are still held in buildings constructed hundreds of years ago.

In their first semester, students from UTS at the Universidad de Salamanca undertake Spanish language classes as well as two options from the Cursos Internacionales program. In their second semester, they enrol in classes from the general undergraduate program in a range of faculties, depending on university admission requirements.

Costs

The two semesters of In-country Study are full-credit subjects at UTS for which HECS is payable. Students receiving student financial support in Australia are still eligible to receive it while they are engaged in a period of In-country Study in Spain. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student's tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. Students may expect that no greater costs will be incurred through undertaking a period of In-country Study in Spain than are involved in living away from home in Sydney.

The information on programs of In-country Study in Spain is correct at the time of printing. However, the Institute for International Studies reserves the right to make alterations to the location and content of any program of In-country Study at any time.
THAILAND MAJOR

Outline
Unlike most of South-East Asia, Thailand has not experienced a colonial era and retains a traditional monarchy in which the King is a highly respected figure. Thailand is a devoutly Buddhist society, but is also affected by Islamic and Sinitic, and more recently, American influences. With a population of some 60 million people, its response to the Asian economic crisis has been relatively quick, although the long-term effects are yet to be fully understood. It is a country with a rich cultural heritage and an openness to travellers.

Information on In-country Study in Thailand

Content and assessment
Students spend two consecutive semesters studying language and culture at Khon Kaen University through arrangements made by the institute. In the first semester, the focus is on the study of language and culture and students undertake an intensive Thai language program. In the second semester, students continue their language studies and attend specific courses relating to Thai society. Students are assessed on each semester separately and assessment is based on the subjects undertaken at the host institution, as well as project work administered by the Institute for International Studies.

Location
Khon Kaen
Khon Kaen is located in north-east Thailand on the main highway that travels north to Laos. It is the fourth largest city in Thailand and is a bustling modern town in a region where the Isan culture is predominant. There are a large number of festivals, the most important of which is the Thai New Year Songkran Water Festival that is celebrated in April. Buddhism is the major religion and there are many beautiful temples in the region. The region is known for its silk-weaving and agricultural produce. Khon Kaen University is located just out of the city and is a major residential campus with its own township, faculty complexes, teaching hospital and student quarters.

HERITAGE MAJOR

Outline

The Heritage major is designed to meet the needs of students in the International Studies program who wish to learn about a country and culture of the non-English-speaking world not provided for elsewhere in the International Studies program, and to which they have already had considerable exposure.

Students in the Heritage major of the International Studies program are expected to meet all the requirements for the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies. The most significant difference between the Heritage major and all other majors in the International Studies program is that there is necessarily a higher degree of individual tailoring of subjects, with each student required to develop their own study plan in cooperation with the Major Coordinator. Students undertaking this major may be required to bear some of the tuition costs at the host university should they be higher than those normally paid by the Institute. All individual programs of study in the Heritage major require a detailed report to the Programs Review Committee.

Admission requirements

Students in the International Studies program must nominate their participation in the Heritage major before starting their third semester of full-time study. At the same time, they must also nominate the country and culture of their specialisation. In most cases, two years preparation is required to ensure arrangements are made for appropriate programs of In-country Study. On entry to the Heritage major, students are required to agree to a learning contract with the Institute, covering the entire program of the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies.

The learning contract for each program of study within the Heritage major contains details of:

- the subject to be followed as a Contemporary Society subject, which may involve attendance or enrolment at another university
- either the language and culture subjects to be followed, which may involve attendance or enrolment at another university; or substitute subjects, in accordance with the regulations for the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies, and proposals for periods of In-country Study, including details of university, departments and subjects to be pursued.

Options

No country or culture is automatically excluded from the Heritage major, though, as elsewhere in the International Studies program, the Institute reserves the right to restrict or curtail student activities according to its resources.

Countries and cultures that might typically be accessed through the Heritage major include: Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, Poland, Russia, Taiwan, the Philippines, or Vietnam.

The information is correct at the time of printing. However, the Institute for International Studies reserves the right to make alterations to the location and content of any program of In-country Study at any time.

INDEPENDENT STUDY MAJOR

Outline

The Independent Study major meets the needs of students in the International Studies program who wish to learn about a country and culture of the non-English-speaking world not provided for by the other majors offered in the International Studies program. This major is designed to allow students to focus on a country whose language and culture is taught at another university in Sydney. This is only possible were a language program already exists and can be undertaken over four consecutive semesters.

Countries and cultures that might be accessed through the Independent Study Major may include Croatia, Greece, Korea, Poland and Russia, as these languages are taught at other universities in Sydney.

Admission requirements

Students in this major are expected to meet all the requirements for the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies. There is a higher degree of individual tailoring of subjects, with each student required to develop their own study plan in cooperation with the Independent Study Major Coordinator. Students undertaking this major may be required to bear some of the tuition costs at the host university should they be higher than those normally paid by the Institute. All individual programs of study in the Independent Study major require a detailed report to the Programs Review Committee.

Students in the International Studies program must nominate their participation in the Independent Study major before starting their third semester of full-time study. At the same time, they must also nominate the country and culture of their specialisation. In most cases, two years preparation is required to ensure arrangements are made for appropriate programs of In-country Study. On entry to the Independent Study major, students are required to agree to a learning contract with the Institute, covering the entire program of the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies. The learning contract for each program of study within the Independent Study major contains details of: the subject the student will take as a Contemporary Society subject, which may involve attendance or enrolment at another university; the language and culture subjects to be taken, which may involve attendance or enrolment at another university; and proposals for periods of In-country Study, including details of university, departments and subjects to be pursued, in accordance with the regulations of the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies.

As elsewhere in the International Studies program, the Institute reserves the right to restrict or curtail student activities according to its resources.

The information is correct at the time of printing. However, the Institute for International Studies reserves the right to make alterations to the location and content of any program of In-country Study at any time.

SPECIAL ARRANGEMENTS

Under certain circumstances, some students may need to vary the subjects of study prescribed by their major in the International Studies program. Foreseeable reasons for such variation are:

- the level of language proficiency does not permit further study at UTS, and
- there are individual and particular difficulties in undertaking a period of In-country Study.

In these and other exceptional circumstances, special arrangements can be made to cater for individual needs.

Under such circumstances, students are required to study one or more subjects from the list of Approved Substitute Subjects to the equivalent value in credit points.

For any amendment to the course of study prescribed in the International Studies program, students need approval from the Board of Studies of the Institute for International Studies.
The Institute for International Studies offers the degree of Bachelor of Arts in International Studies through combined degree programs only. Thirty combined degrees have been established between the Institute for International Studies and the faculties of Business; Design, Architecture and Building; Education; Engineering; Humanities and Social Sciences; Information Technology; Law; Nursing, Midwifery and Health; and Science.

For full details of the Bachelor of Business component of the combined degree, refer to the Bachelor of Business program in the Faculty of Business handbook.

International Studies component

The Bachelor of Arts in International Studies requires undergraduates to study a major—a region or country of specialisation—over a minimum of three years. In Sydney, students study Language and Culture for at least two years, followed by a period of study overseas.

In the International Studies program, students focus on one of the following countries or majors: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain or Thailand. There is also a Heritage major that permits students with previous exposure to a language and culture to continue their study in countries such as Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, Poland, Russia, Taiwan, the Philippines, Vietnam and others. Australia and the Asia-Pacific is only available as a major to international students. International students may access one of the other majors offered, provided that the country they choose as their major is able to grant them a visa to study there. This needs to be determined prior to commencing subjects within the International Studies major. If a visa cannot be granted, then it will not be possible to undertake the chosen major.

Students are admitted to the International Studies program with no guarantee of entry to a specific major, though every effort is made to meet student preferences. The Institute reserves the right to allocate places in majors according to its resources and arrangements with overseas universities.
Each major includes 32 credit points (four 8-credit-point subjects) of instruction in Language and Culture; 8 credit points of study of Comparative Social Change; 8 credit points of study of Contemporary Society; and 48 credit points (two semesters) of study at an institution of higher education in a country of the major.

There are no prior language requirements for the International Studies component of this combined degree, except for programs within the Heritage major.

Arrangements for In-country Study

The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student's tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. In most cases, the cost of living for the period of In-country Study will not exceed the cost of living away from home in Sydney. However, students should be aware that the cost of living in some countries—notably Japan—may be higher than in Sydney.

International Studies component

The Bachelor of Arts in International Studies requires undergraduates to study a major – a region or country of specialisation – over a minimum of three years. In Sydney, students study Language and Culture for at least two years, followed by a period of study overseas.

In the International Studies program, students focus on one of the following countries or majors: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain or Thailand. There is also a Heritage major that permits students with previous exposure to a language and culture to continue their study in countries such as Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, Poland, Russia, Taiwan, the Philippines, Vietnam and others.

Australia and the Asia-Pacific is only available as a major to international students. International students may access one of the other majors offered provided that the country they choose as their major is able to grant them a visa to study there. This needs to be determined prior to commencing subjects within the International Studies major. If a visa cannot be granted, then it will not be possible to undertake the chosen major.

Students are admitted to the International Studies program with no guarantee of entry to a specific major, though every effort is made to meet student preferences. The Institute reserves the right to allocate places in majors according to its resources and arrangements with overseas universities.

Each major includes 32 credit points (four 8-credit-point subjects) of instruction in Language and Culture; 8 credit points of study of Comparative Social Change; 8 credit points of study of Contemporary Society; and 48 credit points (two semesters) of study at an institution of higher education in the country of the major.

The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under these circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student’s tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. In most cases, the cost of living for the period of In-country Study will not exceed the cost of living away from home in Sydney. However, students should be aware that the cost of living in some countries – notably Japan – may be higher than in Sydney.

Other information

Further details of Construction Management subjects may be found in the 2002 handbook for the Faculty of Design, Architecture and Building. Queries regarding the International Studies component of the course should be addressed to the Institute itself on (02) 9514 1574.

Combined degree students are required to confirm, during the University pre-enrolment and enrolment period, the subjects they intend to take for the year with the Institute at 10 Quay Street, Haymarket, Sydney.
Students take a common first semester of multidisciplinary study. Fashion and Textile Design studies commence in the second semester and focus on core design fundamentals of both fashion and textiles, with a strong base of technology across both disciplines. All students are required to gain practical experience in professional design practice to augment and complement their academic studies.

International Studies component

The Bachelor of Arts in International Studies requires undergraduates to study a major—a region or country specialisation—over a minimum of three years. In Sydney, students study language and culture for at least two years, followed by a period of study overseas.

In the International Studies program, students focus on one of the following countries or majors: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain or Thailand. There is also a Heritage major that permits students with previous exposure to a language and culture to continue their study in countries such as Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, Poland, Russia, Taiwan, the Philippines, Vietnam and others.

Australia and the Asia-Pacific is only available as a major to international students. International students may access one of the other majors offered provided that the country they choose as their major is able to grant them a visa to study there. This needs to be determined prior to commencing subjects within the International Studies major. If a visa cannot be granted, then it will not be possible to undertake the chosen major.

Students are admitted to the International Studies program with no guarantee of entry to a specific major, though every effort is made to meet student preferences. The Institute reserves the right to allocate places in majors according to its resources and arrangements with overseas universities.

Each major includes 32 credit points (four 8-credit-point subjects) of instruction in Language and Culture; 8 credit points of study of Comparative Social Change; 8 credit points of study of Contemporary Society; and 48 credit points (two semesters) of study at a university or institution of higher education in the country of the major.

There are no prior language requirements for the International Studies component of this combined degree, except for programs within the Heritage major.

Arrangements for In-country Study

Students are required to complete all appropriate subjects in their combined degree, including four consecutive semesters of study of Language and Culture before proceeding to In-country Study. There are different classes available for students according to their level of language proficiency.

The Institute for International Studies makes arrangements for students to spend two semesters of In-country Study at an institution of higher education in the country of their major. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student’s tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. In most cases, the cost of living for the period of In-country Study will not exceed the cost of living away from home in Sydney. However, students should be aware that the cost of living in some countries—notably Japan—may be higher than in Sydney.

The industrial designer works with manufacturers and has the responsibility not only for the visual and tactile qualities of products but also to a large extent for their safety, efficiency and cost effectiveness.

Course aims

The aim of the combined degree in Industrial Design and International Studies is to produce graduates who have developed perspectives and understandings that enable them to meet the professional demands of an internationalised marketplace.

The combined degree program in Industrial Design and International Studies provides students with additional practical skills, in particular those that make them aware of the international contexts of Industrial Design by providing the opportunity to acquire knowledge and understanding of a language and culture other than English.

Course duration

The Bachelor of Design in Industrial Design, Bachelor of Arts in International Studies is a six-year, full-time degree in which the study of Industrial Design is integrated with a major in the language and culture of another country. Students spend the fourth year of study at a university overseas.

Course structure

Industrial Design component
The Bachelor of Design in Industrial Design curriculum is based on a problem-solving approach and self-directed learning with significant emphasis on multidisciplinary study. All students are required to gain practical experience in professional design practice to augment and complement their academic studies.

International Studies component
The Bachelor of Arts in International Studies requires undergraduates to study a major – a region or country specialisation – over a minimum of three years. In Sydney, students study Language and Culture for at least two years, followed by a period of study overseas.

In the International Studies program, students focus on one of the following countries or majors: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain or Thailand. There is also a Heritage major that permits students with previous exposure to a language and culture to continue their study in countries such as Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, Poland, Russia, Taiwan, the Philippines, Vietnam and others.

Australia and the Asia-Pacific is only available as a major to international students. International students may access one of the other majors offered provided that the country they choose as their major is able to grant them a visa to study there. This needs to be determined prior to commencing subjects within the International Studies major. If a visa cannot be granted, then it will not be possible to undertake the chosen major.

Students are admitted to the International Studies program with no guarantee of entry to a specific major, though every effort is made to meet student preferences. The Institute reserves the right to allocate places in majors according to its resources and arrangements with overseas universities.

Overview

Design of visual communication involves the creation, processing and production of messages in a visual form. Designers in this area are employed to use their creativity and knowledge to determine the optimum effectiveness of the message, visually communicated to a selected group of people. The message may be designed to instruct, direct, inform, entertain or persuade, most often incorporating words and images produced freehand or with the assistance of photographic, video and digital technologies. In visual communication, designed messages are reproduced or transmitted to the end user/viewer through print or screen media.

Overview

The Bachelor of Land Economics, Bachelor of Arts in International Studies aims to produce broadly educated graduates prepared for careers in the property industry, and to equip students with an understanding of the legalities, principles and processes required in those professional careers. The combined degree program in Land Economics and International Studies provides graduates not only with the necessary skills in those areas of expertise, but also develops perspectives and understandings that enable them to meet the demands of an internationalised professional environment.

The course leads to the award of a Bachelor of Land Economics degree that is granted with Honours where a high standard has been achieved. The degree, as awarded by UTS, is the professionally accepted qualification for employment as a land economist, valuer and real estate agent, on-site residential property manager, business agent and stock and station agent.

The combined degree program in Land Economics and International Studies provides students specialising in Land Economics with additional practical skills by providing the opportunity to acquire knowledge and understanding of a language and culture other than English.

Course duration

The combined program is offered on a six-year, full-time basis.

Course structure

To graduate a student is required to have completed 264 credit points: 168 credit points in Land Economics; and 96 credit points in International Studies.

International Studies component

The Bachelor of Arts in International Studies requires undergraduates to study a major – a region or country specialisation – over a minimum of three years. In Sydney, students study Language and Culture for at least two years, followed by a period of study overseas.

In the International Studies program, students focus on one of the following countries or majors: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain or Thailand. There is also a Heritage major that permits students with previous exposure to a language and culture to continue their study in countries such as Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, Poland, Russia, Taiwan, the Philippines, Vietnam and others. Australia and the Asia-Pacific is only available as a major to international students. International students may access one of the other majors offered provided that the country they choose as their major is able to grant them a visa to study there. This needs to be determined prior to commencing subjects within the International Studies major. If a visa cannot be granted, then it will not be possible to undertake the chosen major.

Students are admitted to the International Studies program with no guarantee of entry to a specific major, though every effort is made to meet student preferences. The Institute reserves the right to allocate places in majors according to its resources and arrangements with overseas universities.

Each major includes 32 credit points (four 8-credit-point subjects) of instruction in Language and Culture; 8 credit points of study of Comparative Social Change; 8 credit points of study of Contemporary Society; and 48 credit points (two semesters) of study at a university or institution of higher education in the country of the major.

There are no prior language requirements for the International Studies component of this combined degree, except for programs within the Heritage major.

Arrangements for In-country Study

Students are required to complete all appropriate subjects in their combined degree, including four consecutive semesters of study of Language and Culture before proceeding to In-country Study. There are different classes available for students according to their level of language proficiency.

The Institute for International Studies makes arrangements for students to spend two semesters of In-country Study at an institution of higher education in the country of their major. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student’s tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. In most cases, the cost of living for the period of In-country Study will not exceed the cost of living away from home in Sydney. However, students should be aware that the cost of living in some countries – notably Japan – may be higher than in Sydney.

To graduate, you are required to have completed 240 credit points: 144 credit points in Adult Education; and 96 credit points in International Studies.

Adult Education component
The Bachelor of Education in Adult Education component comprises 144 credit points. There are three components to this course.
1. Core subjects (48 credit points)
2. Specialist subjects for each major (48 credit points)
3. Elective subjects (48 credit points)

This design enables you to study the core theoretical subjects that underpin the field of adult education while at the same time providing you with the specialist knowledge of the various fields of practice. The electives also provide an opportunity for individual participants to pursue particular areas of interest within the diverse field of adult education.

International Studies component
The Bachelor of Arts in International Studies requires undergraduates to study a major—a region or country specialisation—over a minimum of three years. In Sydney, students study Language and Culture for at least two years, followed by a period of study overseas.

In the International Studies program, students focus on one of the following countries or majors: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain or Thailand. Australia and the Asia-Pacific is only available as a major to international students. This needs to be determined prior to commencing subjects within the International Studies major. If a visa cannot be granted, then it will not be possible to undertake the chosen major.

Students are admitted to the International Studies program with no guarantee of entry to a specific major, though every effort is made to meet student preferences. The Institute reserves the right to allocate places in majors according to its resources and arrangements with overseas universities.

Each major includes 32 credit points (four 8-credit-point subjects) of instruction in Language and Culture; 8 credit points of study of Comparative Social Change; 8 credit points of study of Contemporary Society; and 48 credit points (two semesters) of study at a university or institution of higher education in the country of the major.

There are no prior language requirements for the International Studies component of this combined degree, except for programs within the Heritage major.

Arrangements for In-country Study
Students are required to complete all appropriate subjects in their combined degree, including four consecutive semesters of study of Language and Culture before proceeding to In-country Study. There are different classes available for students according to their level of language proficiency.

The Institute for International Studies makes arrangements for students to spend two semesters of In-country Study at an institution of higher education in the country of their major. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student’s tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. In most cases, the cost of living for the period of In-country Study will not exceed the cost of living away from home in Sydney. However, students should be aware that the cost of living in some countries—notably Japan—may be higher than in Sydney.

All existing arrangements for both the Bachelor of Education and the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies apply equally to the combined degree program. The Bachelor of Education, Bachelor of Arts in International Studies includes academic study and school experience in a combined degree thus ensuring that you are well equipped to meet the challenges of local and international teaching.

Course duration

The Bachelor of Education, Bachelor of Arts in International Studies is a five-year degree. You spend the fourth year of study at a university overseas.

Assessment

Student placements at overseas universities and institutions of higher education are arranged, administered and assessed by the Institute for International Studies. You are expected to fully complete your program of In-country Study including all examinations and other requirements. However, assessment for In-country Study subjects is based on a combination of moderated assessment from the overseas institution and additional project work, with overall assessment administered by the Institute.
To graduate, you are required to have completed 240 credit points of study: 144 credit points in Teacher Education and 96 credit points in International Studies.

In the first year, you undertake the same core Teacher Education program as other Bachelor of Education students. Then, in the second and third years, you continue your study of Teacher Education while studying a particular language and culture in preparation for spending your fourth year at a university overseas. The fifth year is spent completing the Teacher Education program. You complete the same core strands of Professional Experience, Curriculum Studies and Education and Contextual Studies as other Bachelor of Education students, but in place of the major study and advanced study elective strands, you do the International Studies program.

Teacher Education component

The Teacher Education component includes three strands:

Students are admitted to the International Studies program with no guarantee of entry to a specific major, though every effort is made to meet student preferences. The Institute reserves the right to allocate places in majors according to its resources and arrangements with overseas universities.

Each major includes 32 credit points (four 8-credit-point subjects) of instruction in Language and Culture; 8 credit points of study of Comparative Social Change; 8 credit points of study of Contemporary Society; and 48 credit points (two semesters) of study at a university or institution of higher education in the country of the major.

Bachelor of Engineering, Bachelor of Arts in International Studies, Diploma in Engineering Practice

- UTS course code: E002
- UAC code: 609032
- Testamur title: Bachelor of Engineering Bachelor of Arts in International Studies Diploma in Engineering Practice
- Abbreviation: BE BA DipEngPrac
- Course fee: HECS (local) $8,000 per semester (international)

Overview
Offered jointly by the Faculty of Engineering and the University’s Institute for International Studies, this program leads to the combined degree of Bachelor of Engineering, Bachelor of Arts in International Studies, Diploma in Engineering Practice. The program links the Bachelor of Engineering, Diploma in Engineering Practice with the study of a language and culture other than English. All majors in the Bachelor of Engineering, Diploma in Engineering Practice are also available in this combined degree.

Course aims
The purpose of the program is to develop skills for leadership in the professional practice of engineering in an international setting. It reflects a belief in the international character of engineering, and the conviction that Australian professionals can benefit from early development of an international perspective and a fluency in cross-cultural interactions.

Admission requirements
Students normally enter the program directly from high school, and are selected on the basis of academic performance. Application is made through UAC in the normal way.

Attendance
The program involves eight semesters of academic work in Australia, two semesters of academic work overseas, and two periods of engineering internship. The periods of engineering internship can be taken in Australia, or one in Australia and one overseas.

Course duration
Attendance may be full time or part time. Overall full-time duration is normally six years, although it may be possible to complete the degree in less than this.

Course structure
The program requires a total of 252 credit points of academic subjects, including those taken overseas, plus the normal minimum of 48 weeks of engineering internship. Some students choose to take their first period of engineering internship overseas, during their second or third year of enrolment. Most take this first period in Australia. Engineering and International Studies are interwoven throughout the program, and the combined degree is awarded on completion. It is not possible to take the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies separately, or to complete either degree at an intermediate point. However, a student unable for any reason to continue with International Studies could transfer to the Bachelor of Engineering, Diploma in Engineering Practice.

International Studies component
The Bachelor of Arts in International Studies requires undergraduates to study a major - a region or country specialisation - over a minimum of three years. In Sydney, students study Language and Culture for at least two years, followed by a period of study overseas.

In the International Studies program, students focus on one of the following countries or majors: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain or Thailand. There is also a Heritage major that permits students with previous exposure to a language and culture to continue their study in countries such as Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, Poland, Russia, Taiwan, the Philippines, Vietnam and others. Australia and the Asia-Pacific is only available as a major to international students. International students may access one of the other majors offered provided that the country they choose as their major is able to grant them a visa to study there. This needs to be determined prior to commencing subjects within the International Studies major. If a visa cannot be granted, then it will not be possible to undertake the chosen major.

Students are admitted to the International Studies program with no guarantee of entry to a specific major, though every effort is made to meet student preferences. The Institute reserves the right to allocate places in majors according to its resources and arrangements with overseas universities.

Each major includes 32 credit points (four 8-credit-point subjects) of instruction in Language and Culture; 8 credit points of study of Comparative Social Change; 8 credit points of study of Contemporary Society; and 48 credit points (two semesters) of study at a university or institution of higher education in the country of the major.

There are no prior language requirements for the International Studies component of this combined degree, except for programs within the Heritage major.

Arrangements for In-country Study

Students are required to complete all appropriate subjects in their combined degree, including four consecutive semesters of study of Language and Culture before proceeding to In-country Study. There are different classes available for students according to their level of language proficiency.

The Institute for International Studies makes arrangements for students to spend two semesters of In-country Study at an institution of higher education in the country of their major. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student’s tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. In most cases, the cost of living for the period of In-country Study will not exceed the cost of living away from home in Sydney. However, students should be aware that the cost of living in some countries – notably Japan – may be higher than in Sydney.

Other information

Further details of Engineering subjects may be found in the 2002 handbook for the Faculty of Engineering. Queries regarding the International Studies component of the course should be addressed to the Institute itself on (02) 9514 1574.

Bachelor of Arts in Communication (Information) and in International Studies

- UTS course code: H031
- UAC code: 609340
- Testamur title: Bachelor of Arts in Communication and in International Studies
- Abbreviation: BA
- Course fee: HECS (local) $6,750 per semester (international)

Course aims
This combined degree seeks to augment the value of the professional study of Information by broadening students' awareness and understanding of other languages and cultures. The enormous technological advances that have occurred over the past decade in the management of information have placed a great deal of pressure on information professionals and their environment. Not only is there more information to access and organise, but the wealth of information is increasingly less likely to be produced in English or from a cultural background immediately accessible to Australian information professionals. This combined degree provides students of Information studies with a knowledge and understanding of another language and culture. Apart from its wider educational goals, the program should also help graduates become more effective as information professionals, whether in Australia or overseas.

Course duration
This course is offered on a five-year, full-time basis.

Bachelor of Arts in Communication (Journalism) and in International Studies

- UTS course code: H026
- UAC code: 609300
- Testamur title: Bachelor of Arts in Communication and in International Studies
- Abbreviation: BA
- Course fee: HECS (local) $8,250 per semester (international)

Course aims
This combined degree seeks to augment the value of Journalism by broadening students' awareness and understanding of other languages and cultures. In the age of global communications, it is more important than ever for journalists to have an understanding of international affairs and cultural perspectives other than their own. A broader understanding assists journalists, even those who will eventually work in their own local environment, to produce work which is culturally sensitive and which reveals a broad understanding of economic, political and social issues. As our media becomes increasingly global, there are many opportunities for journalists to work in a number of different countries during their career. Those who are fluent in more than one language will be able to take advantage of these opportunities. In order to make sense of our changing relationship with near and distant neighbours, journalists with an international awareness will be well equipped to effectively express and interpret the changing interests of their communities. Apart from its wider educational goals, the program should also assist graduates to deal with their work more effectively as journalist professionals in Australia, or to live and work outside Australia.

- UAC code: 609310
- Testamur title: Bachelor of Arts in Communication and in International Studies
- Abbreviation: BA

Course aims

This combined degree seeks to augment the value of Media Arts and Production by broadening students' awareness and understanding of other languages and cultures. The emphasis in Media Arts and Production lies in recognising that the media and cultural industries are undergoing enormous changes in identities and audiences. The course offers students a broad and convergent understanding of this through teaching the integration of historical, conceptual and aesthetic techniques associated with audiovisual media. Students develop their own creative and conceptual work through the production of a range of exercises and projects in film and video, sound and radio and new media (multimedia and online applications). The subjects also place a strong emphasis on the professional context and work practices associated with these areas and the ability to apply them in the national and international production context. Apart from its wider educational goals, the program should also assist graduates to deal more effectively with their work as media arts and production professionals in Australia, or to live and work outside Australia.

A total of 240 credit points is allocated to the combined degree course: 144 credit points to the main degree and 96 credit points to the International Studies component.

International Studies component
The Bachelor of Arts in International Studies requires undergraduates to study a major – a region or country specialisation – over a minimum of three years. In Sydney, students study Language and Culture for at least two years, followed by a period of study overseas.

In the International Studies program, students focus on one of the following countries or majors: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain or Thailand. There is also a Heritage major that permits students with previous exposure to a language and culture to continue their study in countries such as Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, Poland, Russia, Taiwan, the Philippines, Vietnam and others.

Australia and the Asia-Pacific is only available as a major to international students. International students may access one of the other majors offered provided that the country they choose as their major is able to grant them a visa to study there. This needs to be determined prior to commencing subjects within the International Studies major. If a visa cannot be granted, then it will not be possible to undertake the chosen major.

Students are admitted to the International Studies program with no guarantee of entry to a specific major, although students' preferences are taken into consideration. The Institute reserves the right to allocate places in majors according to its resources and arrangements with overseas universities.

Each major includes 32 credit points (four 8-credit-point subjects) of instruction in Language and Culture; 8 credit points of study of Comparative Social Change; 8 credit points of study of Contemporary Society; and 48 credit points (two semesters) of study at a university or institution of higher education in the country of the major.

There are no prior language requirements for the International Studies component of this combined degree, except for programs within the Heritage major.

Arrangements for In-country Study
Students are required to complete all appropriate subjects in their combined degree, including four consecutive semesters of study of Language and Culture before proceeding to In-country Study. There are different classes available for students according to their level of language proficiency.

The Institute for International Studies makes arrangements for students to spend two semesters of In-country Study at an institution of higher education in the country of their major. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student’s tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. In most cases, the cost of living for the period of In-country Study will not exceed the cost of living away from home in Sydney. However, students should be aware that the cost of living in some countries – notably Japan – may be higher than in Sydney.

Course aims
This combined degree seeks to augment the value of Social Inquiry by broadening students' awareness and understanding of other languages and cultures. Aid development, community services, education and training are examples of areas that are rapidly expanding in many of the countries in our region, as well as elsewhere. Qualifications in the social sciences through UTS prepares students for such opportunities by incorporating diversity, ways of understanding and working within other cultures, the ability to understand different social and political frameworks, skills in exploring historical materials as well as researching current social problems and devising policy possibilities.

Course aims

This combined degree seeks to augment the value of the professional study of Writing by broadening students' awareness and understanding of other languages and cultures. Writers tell their own stories, and in doing so they tell the stories of the societies they live in. Through these stories we better understand our pasts and approach our futures with confidence and maturity. Writing at UTS is studied as a craft undertaken in close engagement with, and responsiveness to, the writer's society. Australia is uniquely positioned to play a significant role in the 21st century. Its writers will be a vital part of understanding and defining this role, and they will be better equipped for this task with an understanding of their own and other contemporary cultures as they go about their work.

Overview

The Bachelor of Laws, Bachelor of Arts in International Studies program is offered jointly by the Faculty of Law and the Institute for International Studies. The degree provides full-time study for students wishing to obtain a professional qualification that satisfies the basic academic requirements of the Supreme Court of NSW for admission as a legal practitioner. A single testamur of Bachelor of Laws, Bachelor of Arts in International Studies is awarded. The Law component may be awarded with First or Second Class Honours. The program is designed for students who wish to obtain an international perspective and expertise to enable them to work overseas, provide specialised legal services to Australian ethnic communities, and satisfy the demand in firms for legal practitioners who can act for foreign investors. In addition to pursuing the full program of the Bachelor of Laws, students are required to follow a major – a country or region of specialisation – in the International Studies program. Students study Language and Culture for at least two years in Sydney, and this is followed by a period of study overseas.

Admission requirements

Local students are required to apply for admission through the NSW Universities Admissions Centre (UAC). For school leavers, admission is based on UAI scores. Non-recent School Leavers should apply through UAC in addition to sending a Personal Statement to UTS. Applications are taken from August to end of October each year. Considerations for admission as a Non-recent School Leaver takes into account the following:
- English proficiency and written expression
- previous legal study
- tertiary study
- legal experience or employment
- motivation and the reason for wanting to study law (and other discipline in the case of a combined or double degree)
- commitment to study law, and
- supporting material such as professional and personal references and/or letter of employer's support.

International students should contact the UTS International Programs Office (IPO) for application procedures. In addition to academic requirements, students are required to meet English language proficiency requirements.

Attendance

Each law subject is taught over one semester. Students attend 12–15 hours of lectures and seminars per week. Students may be required to attend evening classes.

Course duration

The degree normally requires five years of full-time study for completion. Students spend the fourth year of study at university overseas.

Course structure

Law component

Students complete 14 core subjects, 76600 International Legal Studies, and four elective subjects. Students then complete 24 credit points of Practical Legal Training or a further four electives.

The International Studies component of the joint degree is designed to offer students the chance of gaining an in-depth understanding of a culture other than their own through academic and experiential learning. The program equips students with the ability to make progress towards acquiring sufficient language skills to study and live in this culture as well as encouraging an appreciation of the diversity of ways of seeing and practices of others, and promoting empathic understanding of other cultures in general. It fosters an awareness of and sensitivity towards the needs and values of people and cultures of other countries in international, cultural and local contexts.

Advanced standing
For the information technology component, refer to the Bachelor of Science in Information Technology, Diploma in Information Technology Professional Practice entry in the Faculty of Information Technology handbook.

Course duration
The course is of six years’ duration and students spend the fourth year of study at a university overseas. The fifth and sixth years are completed part time.

Course structure
The structure of the six-year course is derived from the combination of the Bachelor of Science in Information Technology, Diploma in Information Technology Professional Practice with the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies.
All arrangements currently in force for both the Bachelor of Science in Information Technology, Diploma in Information Technology Professional Practice and the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies apply equally to the combined degree program.

To graduate, a student is required to have completed 252 credit points: 156 credit points in Information Technology and 96 credit points in International Studies.

There are a substantial number of prerequisites for the Diploma of Information Technology Professional Practice. In this combined degree program the Diploma is normally undertaken part time in Years 5 and 6. To gain credit for the Diploma in Information Technology Professional Practice, students are required to obtain an approved, full-time job within the information technology industry.

International Studies component

The Bachelor of Arts in International Studies requires undergraduates to study a major – a region or country specialisation – over a minimum of three years. In Sydney, students study Language and Culture for at least two years, followed by a period of study overseas.

In the International Studies program, students focus on one of the following countries or majors: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain or Thailand. There is also a Heritage major that permits students with previous exposure to a language and culture to continue their study in countries such as Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, Poland, Russia, Taiwan, the Philippines, Vietnam and others. Australia and the Asia-Pacific is only available as a major to international students. International students may access one of the other majors offered provided that the country they choose as their major is able to grant them a visa to study there. This needs to be determined prior to commencing subjects within the International Studies major. If a visa cannot be granted, then it will not be possible to undertake the chosen major.

Students are admitted to the International Studies program with no guarantee of entry to a specific major, although every effort is made to meet students’ preferences. The Institute reserves the right to allocate places in majors according to its resources and arrangements with overseas universities.

Each major includes 32 credit points (four 8-credit-point subjects) of instruction in Language and Culture; 8 credit points of study of Comparative Social Change; 8 credit points of study of Contemporary Society; and 48 credit points (two semesters) of study at a university or institution of higher education in the country of the major.

There are no prior language requirements for the International Studies component of this combined degree, except for programs within the Heritage major.

Arrangements for In-country Study

Students are required to complete all appropriate subjects in their combined degree, including four consecutive semesters of study of Language and Culture before proceeding to In-country Study. There are different classes available for students according to their level of language proficiency.

The Institute for International Studies makes arrangements for students to spend two semesters of In-country Study at an institution of higher education in the country of their major. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would otherwise have been allocated towards the student’s tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. In most cases, the cost of living for the period of In-country Study will not exceed the cost of living away from home in Sydney. However, students should be aware that the cost of living in some countries – notably Japan – may be higher than in Sydney.

Overview
This course combines the Bachelor of Science in Mathematics with the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies. Mathematics is integrated with a major in the language and culture of another country. Students spend the fourth year of study at a university overseas.

Course aims
The Mathematical Sciences component of the combined degree aims to provide students with a broad education in the field, to prepare graduates for professional practice in industry, commerce and government, and to provide the foundation for graduate studies and research. It provides great flexibility by allowing students to follow a course of study that best suits their interests and aspirations. It aims to help the students acquire sufficient experience and understanding in a broad range of mathematical disciplines to enable them to apply mathematical and computing techniques to industrial and commercial problems.

For further information, see the course outline for the Bachelor of Science in Mathematics in this handbook.

An Honours degree in Mathematics (with majors in Operations Research, Statistics and Mathematics), requiring an additional year of full-time study, is also available.

Course duration
Owing to timetabling constraints, the combined degree is only offered on a full-time basis over five years.

Course structure
The structure of the course is derived from the combination of the Bachelor of Science in Mathematics with the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies.

All arrangements currently in force for both the Bachelor of Science in Mathematics and the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies apply equally to the combined degree programs.

To graduate, a student is required to have completed 240 credit points: 144 credit points in Mathematics and 96 credit points in International Studies.

Mathematics component
The Mathematics component of the combined degree is structured in three distinct sections: core studies, a major in an area of the mathematical sciences, and an elective component, precisely as for the Bachelor of Science in Mathematics. The major is taken in the final (fifth) year of study.

The program for each of the majors corresponds precisely with that in the Bachelor of Science in Mathematics.

Overview

This course combines the Bachelor of Mathematics and Finance with the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies. Studies in mathematics and finance are integrated with a major in the language and culture of another country. Students spend the fourth year of study at a university overseas.

Course aims

Students graduating from this degree will have undertaken an integrated sequence of study in mathematics, statistics, finance, economics, accounting and computing, and thus will have sound training in both the traditional theory of finance and the mathematical aspects of modern portfolio management techniques. With such skills, graduates should find interesting and rewarding employment in major financial institutions such as banks, insurance companies and government instrumentalities.

For further information, see the course outline for the Bachelor of Mathematics and Finance in the Faculty of Science handbook.

The Mathematics and Finance component of the course occupies three full-time years. An Honours degree, leading to the qualification of BMathFin(Hons) and requiring an additional year of full-time study, is also available.

Bachelor of Nursing, Bachelor of Arts in International Studies

- UTS course code: KN10
- UAC code: 609150
- Testamur title: Bachelor of Nursing Bachelor of Arts in International Studies
- Abbreviation: BN BA
- Course fee: HECS (local) $6,500 per semester (international)

Overview

The Bachelor of Nursing, Bachelor of Arts in International Studies is a program in which the study of nursing is integrated with a major in the language and culture of another country. All existing arrangements for the Bachelor of Nursing and the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies apply equally to the combined degree program.

Course aims

The combined degree program in Nursing and International Studies provides nursing students with a knowledge and understanding of another language and culture. Apart from its wider educational goals, there are two practical consequences of the program. The first is that it provides graduate nurses with specific skills in their chosen language and culture. The second and possibly more important consequence is that it makes nurses more aware of the need for intercultural sensitivities, not only through studying another language and culture, but also by living in another society for a period of time.

Course duration

This course is offered on a five-year, full-time basis. Students spend the fourth year of study at a university overseas.

Course structure

To graduate, a student is required to have completed 240 credit points of study: 144 credit points in Nursing (as per the Bachelor of Nursing) and 96 credit points in International Studies.

Nursing practice

As an initial qualification, the combined degree in Nursing and International Studies includes extensive nursing practice. This is a compulsory component of the course which will take place in each semester in Years 1, 2, 3 and 5.

International Studies component

The Bachelor of Arts in International Studies requires undergraduates to study a major – a region or country specialisation – over a minimum of three years. In Sydney, students study Language and Culture for at least two years, followed by a period of study overseas. In the International Studies program, students focus on one of the following countries or majors: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain or Thailand. There is also a Heritage major that permits students with previous exposure to a language and culture to continue their study in countries such as Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, Poland, Russia, Taiwan, the Philippines, Vietnam and others.

Australia and the Asia-Pacific is only available as a major to international students. International students may access one of the other majors offered provided that the country they choose as their major is able to grant them a visa to study there. This needs to be determined prior to commencing subjects within the International Studies major. If a visa cannot be granted, then it will not be possible to undertake the chosen major.

Students are admitted to the International Studies program with no guarantee of entry to a specific major, although every effort is made to meet students’ preferences. The Institute reserves the right to allocate places in majors according to its resources and arrangements with overseas universities. Each major includes 32 credit points (four 8-credit-point subjects) of instruction in Language and Culture; 8 credit points of study of Comparative Social Change; 8 credit points of study of Contemporary Society; and 48 credit points (two semesters) of study at a university or institution of higher education in the country of the major.

There are no prior language requirements for the International Studies component of this combined degree, except for programs within the Heritage major.

Arrangements for In-country Study

Students are required to complete all appropriate subjects in their combined degree, including four consecutive semesters of study of Language and Culture before proceeding to In-country Study. There are different classes available for students according to their level of language proficiency.

The Institute for International Studies makes arrangements for students to spend two semesters of In-country Study at an institution of higher education in the country of their major. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student's tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. In most cases the cost of living for the period of In-country Study will not exceed the cost of living away from home in Sydney. However, students should be aware that the cost of living in some countries – notably Japan – may be higher than in Sydney.

Bachelor of Health Science in Traditional Chinese Medicine, Bachelor of Arts in International Studies

- UTS course code: N008
- Testamur title: Bachelor of Health Science in Traditional Chinese Medicine, Bachelor of Arts in International Studies
- Abbreviation: BHlthSc BA
- Course fee: HECS (local) $7,500 per semester (international)

The combined degree program in Traditional Chinese Medicine and International Studies is offered jointly by the Faculty of Science and the Institute for International Studies. It provides students with a greater exposure to, and understanding of, Chinese culture and a working knowledge of Chinese. Apart from its wider educational goals, the program should also make it more possible for Traditional Chinese Medicine graduates to practise outside Australia.

Students do not need to have previously studied Chinese to be able to successfully complete the program. All students are required to complete four consecutive semesters of study of Chinese Language and Culture before proceeding to China for an academic year of study. There are various classes available for students with different levels of language proficiency: from classes for complete beginners, to classes for those who have completed HSC-level Chinese and for those with more advanced language skills.

Course duration
This combined degree is offered on a six-year, full-time basis.

Assessment
Depending on the subjects chosen, students can expect to undergo a variety of assessment types before completion of this course including formal and informal examinations, assignments and essays, practical reports and write-ups, seminar presentations, and clinic practice evaluations. Assessment tasks may be based on individual or group work.

Course structure
The Bachelor of Health Science in Traditional Chinese Medicine, Bachelor of Arts in International Studies is a six-year degree program in which the study of Traditional Chinese Medicine is integrated with the China major of the International Studies Program. Students spend the fifth year of study at a Chinese university. All existing arrangements for both the Bachelor of Health Science in Traditional Chinese Medicine and the Bachelor of Arts in International Studies apply equally to the combined degree program in Traditional Chinese Medicine and International Studies.

To graduate with a Bachelor of Health Science in Traditional Chinese Medicine, Bachelor of Arts in International Studies, a student is required to have completed 288 credit points of study: 192 credit points in Traditional Chinese Medicine and 96 credit points in Chinese Studies.

International Studies component
Students do not need to have previously studied Chinese to be able to successfully complete the program. All students are required to complete four consecutive semesters of study of Chinese Language and Culture before proceeding to China for an academic year of study. There are various classes available for students with different levels of language proficiency: from classes for complete beginners, to classes for those who have completed HSC-level Chinese and for those with more advanced language skills.

The International Studies program is 96 credit points, and includes 32 credit points (four 8-credit-point subjects) of instruction in Language and Culture; 8 credit points (one subject) of study of Comparative Social Change; 8 credit points (one subject) of study of Contemporary Society; and 48 credit points (two semesters) of study at a university or institution of higher education in the country or region of specialisation.

Arrangements for In-country Study
The Institute for International Studies makes arrangements for students to spend two semesters of In-country Study at an institution of higher education in China. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would otherwise have been allocated towards the student's tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. In most cases, the cost of living for the period of In-country Study will not exceed the cost of living away from home in Sydney.

Overview

The Faculty of Science, in collaboration with the Institute for International Studies, offers a combined degree program in Science and International Studies which is aimed at increasing students' awareness of international contexts and producing graduates who are well prepared for professional careers in science in an international setting.

The Bachelor of Arts in International Studies requires undergraduates to study a major — a region or country specialisation — over a minimum of three years. Students study Language and Culture in Sydney for at least two years, followed by a period of study overseas.
Admission requirements

Australian students are required to apply for admission through the NSW University Admissions Centre (UAC). For school leavers, admission is based on UAI scores. We recommend that HSC studies include the following subjects: HSC English Advanced, Mathematics, and at least one science subject. Non-recent School Leavers should apply through UAC in addition to submitting a Personal Statement to UTS. Applications are taken from September to December each year. International students should contact the UTS International Programs Office (IPO) for application procedures. In addition to academic requirements, students are required to meet English language proficiency requirements. Further details are available from IPO.

There is provision for students already enrolled in a Bachelor of Science to transfer to the combined degree program. Applications for transfer are decided on the basis of academic merit and the preparedness of the student for undertaking International Studies. Students admitted to the first year of the course may select any of the Science programs listed above provided that their entry rank is equal to or better than the cut-off for the chosen program.

Advanced standing

UTS recognises prior tertiary level learning, including that from other universities and TAFE (Associate Diploma and Diploma only). Once a student's application to study has been accepted, he or she may apply to receive recognition of successful prior learning in Science, and may therefore be able to complete the course in less than the standard time. Applications for credits and exemptions should be made to the Associate Dean (Coursework Programs) in the Faculty of Science.

Course duration

Each of these courses is offered over:

- five years, full time
- six years, full time with successful completion of the Diploma in Scientific Practice, or
- six years, full time with Honours.

Assessment

Depending on the subjects chosen, students can expect to undergo a variety of assessment types before completion of this course including formal and informal examinations, assignments and essays, practical reports and write-ups, and seminar presentations. Assessment tasks may be based on individual or group work.

Course structure

Science component

Students are required to complete 144 credit points of science subjects focused on a major area of study, or of medical science or biotechnology subjects. This combined degree in Science is offered in conjunction with the following science majors:

- Applied Chemistry
- Applied Physics
- Biomedical Science
- Earth and Environmental Science
- Environmental Biology
- Environmental and Urban Horticulture
- Nanotechnology.

International Studies component

The Bachelor of Arts in International Studies requires undergraduates to study a major - a region or country specialisation - over a minimum of three years. Students study Language and Culture in Sydney for at least two years, followed by a period of study overseas. In the International Studies program, students focus on one of the following countries or majors: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain or Thailand. There is also a Heritage major that permits students with previous exposure to a language and culture to continue their study in countries such as Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, Poland, Russia, Taiwan, the Philippines, Vietnam and others.
Australia and the Asia-Pacific is only available as a major to international students. International students may access one of the other majors offered provided that the country they choose as their major is able to grant them a visa to study there. This needs to be determined prior to commencing subjects within the International Studies major. If a visa cannot be granted, then it will not be possible to undertake the chosen major.

Students are admitted to the International Studies program with no guarantee of entry to a specific major, although every effort is made to meet students' preferences. The Institute reserves the right to allocate places in majors according to its resources and arrangements with overseas universities.

Each major includes 32 credit points (four 8-credit-point subjects) of instruction in Language and Culture; 8 credit points of study of Comparative Social Change; 8 credit points of study of Contemporary Society; and 48 credit points (two semesters) of study at a university or institution of higher education in the country of the major.

There are no prior language requirements for the International Studies component of this combined degree, except for programs within the Heritage major.

Arrangements for In-country study

Students are required to complete all appropriate subjects in their combined degree, including four consecutive semesters of study of Language and Culture before proceeding to In-country Study. There is a range of language classes available for students depending on their level of language proficiency.

The Institute for International Studies makes arrangements for students to spend two semesters of In-country Study at an institution of higher education abroad. The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would have otherwise been allocated towards the student's tuition and travel are redirected to support the In-country Study program in general. In most cases, the cost of living for the period of In-country Study will not exceed the cost of living away from home in Sydney. However, students should be aware that the cost of living in some countries – notably Japan – may be higher than in Sydney.

Course program

The following general pattern is be followed for each Pass combined degree in Science and International Studies. A different pattern, extending over six years, would apply to a combined degree involving the Bachelor of Science (Honours) in Applied Chemistry — Forensic Science, details of which will be worked out in consultation with the Associate Dean (Coursework Programs) in Science.

Bachelor of Arts in International Business Studies

- UTS course code: B012
- Testamur title: Bachelor of Arts in International Business Studies
- Abbreviation: BA
- Course fee: $6,750 per semester [international]

Overview

The Bachelor of Arts in International Business Studies is offered jointly by the Faculty of Business and the Institute for International Studies. Students learn about international business management or international marketing in the culturally diverse city of Sydney, and by experiencing another country through learning its language and spending a year studying in that country. Students study both in Sydney and in the country in which they choose to specialise – options include: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain or Thailand.

The first two years of this three-year program are spent studying in Sydney, learning about the language and culture of the chosen country of study and developing knowledge and skills in either international management or international marketing. In the third year of the course, study is undertaken in a university in the chosen country of study through arrangements made by UTS. The content of study overseas will vary depending on language competency and interests, but all students will undertake project work set and assessed by the Institute for International Studies at UTS.

Admission requirements

Students applying for this degree must meet the UTS entry requirements which is a competitive pass in a recognised matriculation examination equivalent to an Australian Year 12 qualification. If previous education has not been completed in English, students must also achieve an IELTS score of 6.5 with at least 6.0 in the writing section, or a TOEFL (paper-based) score of 575 with a TWE (Test of Written English) score of 4.5, or TOEFL (computer-based) score of 231 with an essay rating of 4.5. Prior knowledge of the language of the country in which students choose to specialise is not required. This course is only open to international students. Local students should refer to the Institute for International Studies’ handbook for alternative courses.

Course duration
This course is offered on a three-year, full-time basis which includes one year studying at an institution overseas.

Course structure
Students in this program undertake subjects totalling 48 credit points from international components of the Bachelor of Business. Three Bachelor of Business core subjects (24108 Marketing Foundations, 21129 Managing People and Organisations and 21128 International Business) provide a foundation for a further 30-credit-point specialisation in either International Management or International Marketing. Students also undertake language and culture studies related to their chosen country of specialisation. This approach provides an integrated progression between language, culture and business studies as part of the student’s academic development.

Arrangements for In-country Study
The course fee of $6,750 per semester includes tuition fees for study at UTS and the host university in the third year of the program, as well as medical and personal insurance and the cost of travelling to and from the host university. Students are required to meet the costs of living for all components of the degree. Students are also responsible for ensuring that they are eligible for a student visa for the country in which they choose to specialise.

Bachelor of Arts in International Cultures

- UTS course code: H005
- Testamur title: Bachelor of Arts in International Cultures
- Abbreviation: BA
- Course fee: $6,750 per semester (international)

Overview

The Bachelor of Arts in International Cultures enables international students to undertake an integrated program of language, culture and communication studies over three academic years full-time. For the first two years students study at UTS, learning about the language and culture of their chosen country of study, and developing their analytical and research skills for social, cultural and political issues, especially those involving cultural diversity and difference. In the third year students study in a university in their chosen country of study, through arrangements made by UTS.

The range of countries include: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain and Thailand. Students, with previous exposure to the language and culture, may study in countries such as Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Poland, Russia, the Philippines, Taiwan, and Vietnam. This is called a Heritage major.

The precise study program of each student is determined by their chosen country of study. In the third year all students undertake project work which is set and assessed by staff at the Institute for International Studies at UTS.

Admission requirements

To enter this degree students need to meet the entry requirement for UTS, which is a competitive Pass in a recognised matriculation exam equivalent to the Australian Year 12 qualification. If students have not completed their previous education in English they are also required to achieve an IELTS score of 6.5 with a writing score of 6.5 or equivalent. Students do not need prior knowledge of the language of the country in which they choose to specialise.

Course duration

This course is offered on a three-year, full-time basis.

1 This course is not offered to local students.

Course structure

Credit points: 144

The course consists of 48 credit points of Humanities and Social Sciences subjects, 48 credit points of International Studies subjects, and 48 credit points of In-country Study.

Humanities and Social Sciences component

In the Humanities and Social Sciences component, students complete three compulsory 100-level subjects. They then select a 200-level subject and a 300-level subject from the Cultural Studies or the Social, Political and Historical Studies Strand and an elective:

In the International Studies program students focus on one of the following countries or majors: Chile, China, France, Germany, Indonesia, Italy, Japan, Malaysia, Mexico, Spain or Thailand. There are no prior language requirements on entry to any of these specific country majors in the International Studies program. There is also a Heritage major that permits students with previous exposure to a language and culture to continue their study in countries such as Croatia, Greece, Hong Kong, Poland, Taiwan, Vietnam and others. International students may access one of these majors provided that the country they choose as their major is able to grant them a visa to study there. This needs to be determined prior to commencing subjects within the International Studies major. If a visa cannot be granted, then it will not be possible to undertake the chosen major.

For each of these options students must take a sequence of four appropriate language and culture subjects (chosen from Chinese, French, German, Indonesian, Italian, Japanese, Malaysian, Spanish and Thai); an appropriate Contemporary Society subject (chosen from Contemporary China, Contemporary Europe, Contemporary Japan, Contemporary Latin America, Contemporary South-East Asia); and spend two semesters of In-country Study at a university in their country of specialisation on programs organised by the Institute for International Studies.

International Studies for International Students (ISIS program)

International students can undertake a Bachelor of Arts in International Studies, with a major in Australia and the Asia-Pacific Region, in combination with a range of UTS professional degrees. Students study English language and Australian studies in their first year and in subsequent years they follow their professional studies combined with an International Studies specialisation on Australia and the Asia-Pacific Region. The Bachelor of Arts in International Studies adds two years to the length of existing professional degrees.

For most combined degrees within the ISIS program, students are admitted to the first year of the combined degree with an English language level of IELTS score 5.5, with 5.0 in writing or equivalent, with progress to the professional component of the combined degree requiring a level of English language competence of IELTS 6.5, with 6.0 in writing, or equivalent. Students wishing to gain entry to the combined degree with Communication require IELTS scores of 6.5 (with 6.5 in writing); for Education, the required IELTS entry score is 7.0 (with 6.0 in writing).

Course structure

The first year of the combined degree is spent in an intensive study of English language and Australian culture. Particular emphasis in this year is given to students acquiring the language and other skills necessary for success in studies at an Australian university. In the second year, students are introduced to their professional degree. The third and fourth years integrate the study of subjects relating to Australia and the Asia-Pacific Region with subjects from the student’s professional degree, and the fifth year, and sixth year where relevant, complete the professional degree.

Further detailed information on the Australia and the Asia-Pacific Region major in the International Studies program can be found in the Majors section of this handbook.

RESEARCH DEGREES

Applications for research degree candidature are welcome from all graduates with an interest in the social, political, economic and cultural changes that have taken place in East and South-East Asia, Latin America, and Europe. Applicants need a First or Second Class Division 1 Honours degree in a relevant field, as well as any other necessary qualifications, including language proficiency.

Research degree (MA and PhD) candidates at UTS normally have a minimum of two supervisors. Research degree students in the Institute should normally expect to have at least one of their supervisors from another part of the University.

Applications for research degrees in the Institute should be made through the University Graduate School. However, all applicants are advised to consult Institute staff beforehand.

Doctor of Philosophy in China Studies

- UTS course code: PS54
- Testamur title: Doctor of Philosophy
- Abbreviation: PhD
- Course fee: see note [local] $6,000 per semester [international]

The Institute for International Studies at UTS has strong expertise in China Studies and offers the research degree of Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) in that area. The doctoral program in China Studies at the Institute is unique in that candidates may choose to write their thesis in Chinese rather than English. Candidates may access China’s wealth of library sources while completing a degree in the Western academic tradition. The degree is most valuable to those people without sufficient writing skills in English to write a PhD thesis in that language, but who wish to pursue an academic career, a career in research or an advanced level of professional practice in the area of China Studies.

The Institute has the capacity to supervise theses in the fields of:
- Modern and Contemporary Chinese History
- Chinese Political Economy
- Social Change in the PRC
- Contemporary Chinese Culture.

Admission requirements

A major criterion for the acceptance of applications for admission to the degree is the availability of appropriate supervision.

To qualify for admission to the doctoral program in China Studies applicants must:
- hold a Bachelor’s degree with Honours, or a Master’s degree, or
- transfer from a Master’s (by thesis) degree, or

Note: Research degrees are offered on a sponsored, scholarship, faculty part-sponsored, or full-fee-paying basis. Students should contact the Institute or the University Graduate School for further details. There are, however, student service fees to be paid (see Fees and costs, page 9).
Postgraduate courses

- be a graduate of at least two years' standing of UTS or another tertiary educational institution whose research publications and written reports on works carried out by the applicant satisfy the Academic Board that he or she has the ability and experience to pursue his or her proposed course of study.

Supplementary information

In addition to completing the University's application form, the Institute for International Studies requires applicants to provide the following:

- Evidence of their ability to undertake advanced original research, appropriate to the proposed doctoral program. This may include previous research at Honours and/or Master's level, or experience as a research team member or professional practice involving systematic inquiry or advanced scholarship. Applicants should include a list of their published work, if appropriate.

- Project proposal. The proposal is to be 1,500–2,000 words long and should include a statement of the problem, research question or area of investigation; discussion of the relevant literature; an outline of the methodological approach; and a justification of the importance of the research.

Applications without this information are not considered. Applicants may be interviewed in person or by telephone.

Local applicants

Local applicants need to:

Attendance

Students may study in either Sydney or China. Chinese-resident candidates who have difficulty travelling to Sydney receive supervision in China through periodic visits by their supervisors and cooperation with a local university.
Course duration

The program can be undertaken on either a full-time or part-time basis. It is expected to take three years of full-time research and writing to complete, or nine semesters, part-time with a maximum candidature of eight semesters for full time and twelve semesters for part time.

Master of Arts in International Studies

- UTS course code: H081
- Testamur title: Master of Arts in International Studies
- Abbreviation: MA
- Course fee: $10,000 (local) $8,625 per semester (international)

Admission requirements
Applicants for the Master of Arts in International Studies must have successfully completed the Graduate Diploma in International Studies.

Scholarships
Equity Scholarships are not available for this course.

Course duration
This course is offered on a one-year, full-time basis. Part-time study is available except for the periods of In-country Study which can only be taken on a full-time basis.

Course structure
Credit points: 72

Stage 1 – Autumn semester
In-country Study
Students are required to spend a semester overseas at an institution of higher education in the country of their major through arrangements made by the Institute. The location of the student's In-country Study is determined by the major chosen for their Graduate Diploma in International Studies. Students may choose to prolong their In-country Study by a second semester.

The period of In-country Study focuses on improving the student's understanding of the relevant language and culture. Programs are determined by students' level of language proficiency and must be approved by the Board of Studies of the Institute. Students who were beginners or near beginners when they attended their Language and Culture classes in Sydney generally attend classes organised by the Institute at the host institutions. In the first semester of In-country Study, the focus is on the study of language and culture. In the second semester, the focus is on cultural studies. Students with higher levels of language competence are able to attend classes in other subjects: usually those relating to the history, society and politics of their host country, as well as those relating to their professional discipline. All students are assessed on each semester separately and assessment is based on the subjects undertaken at the host institutions, as well as project and essay work administered by the Institute for International Studies.

The costs of tuition in host institutions overseas and travel between Sydney and the designated host institutions are borne by UTS except in cases where a scholarship has been awarded to the student with provision for these costs. Under those circumstances, the funds that would otherwise have been allocated towards the student’s tuition and travel will be redirected to support the In-country Study program. In most cases, the cost of living for the period of In-country Study will not exceed the cost of living away from home in Sydney. However, students should be aware that the cost of living in some countries – notably Japan – may be higher than in Sydney.

Before students engage in a period of In-country Study, they may be required to meet appropriate financial and enrolment requirements. They are also required to agree to be governed by the Institute’s Conditions of Participation for a period of In-country Study and to abide by the rules and regulations of the host institution and the laws of the host country.

Some students may find it difficult to leave or stay away from Australia for a variety of reasons. The Institute maintains a system of pastoral care. In special cases, provision will be made for students to vary their program of study to fit their circumstances. They are expected to complete their International Studies program by taking subjects from the list of Approved Substitute Subjects in this handbook. Any variation in the International Studies program is subject to the approval of the Board of Studies of the Institute.

Stage 2 – Spring semester
In the second stage of the course (Semester 4 or part-time equivalent) students have three options: they may prolong their period of In-country Study by another semester; they may return to Sydney and complete a dissertation or project report; or they may undertake a Professional Studies Specialisation.
Option 1: In-country Study

Students may opt to spend a second semester at the same institution of higher education in the country of their major.

Option 2: Dissertation

Students are required to write a 15,000-word dissertation or project report on a topic within International Studies. Each student should have two supervisors, one from the Institute and the other from a UTS faculty. The Faculties of Design, Architecture and Building; Education; Humanities and Social Sciences; Law; and Information Technology have agreed to participate in this program. It is advisable that the topic of the dissertation is agreed to beforehand by both supervisors and the student, and it must be approved by the Programs Review Committee of the Institute for International Studies.

Option 3: Professional Studies Specialisation

A Professional Studies Specialisation is intended to complement each student's area of specialisation. The student is required to complete 24 credit points of subjects concentrating on the internationalist aspects of a specific professional education. The number of subjects in each Professional Studies Specialisation will vary with the specific professional education. A Professional Studies Specialisation may also stipulate specific electives in earlier stages of this program. Entry to each Professional Studies Specialisation within this program is subject to the approval by the relevant Faculty. Coursework subjects listed as part of a Professional Studies Specialisation are all taught within other UTS programs.

Professional Studies Specialisations in Cultural Studies/Media Arts and Production, Education, Information, International Management, International Project Management, Journalism, Law, Public Communication, Social, Political and Historical Studies, and Chinese Medical Philosophy are currently available.

The Institute for International Studies organises and coordinates the teaching of languages other than English to all UTS students. All students intending to take language studies as part of their degree need to enrol through the Institute, even if the language concerned is not taught on UTS campuses. With the permission of their faculty, students may study languages other than English as electives in any UTS degree. All language subjects are taught over one semester and are worth 8 credit points.

UTS students can access language subjects in one of the following ways:

- as part of a combined degree or as part of the postgraduate coursework degree program in International Studies
- as elective subjects in any other UTS degree, with faculty approval, or
- as non-award subjects.

Language studies subjects are generally open to UTS students who wish to study languages for credit within their current degree. UTS students who wish to engage in language studies, but not for credit, are admitted as fee-paying students. Students from other institutions can enrol in language studies subjects as cross-institutional students, and they should contact the UTS Information Office on telephone (02) 9514 1222.

The Institute for International Studies has developed its own Language and Culture programs, together with the Insearch Language Centre, as part of the International Studies program. It has also made arrangements with other universities in the Sydney area for UTS students to be taught in specific language programs.

The Institute is offering Language and Culture programs in Chinese, French, German, Italian, Japanese and Spanish on UTS campuses through arrangements with the Insearch Language Centre.

Greek, Indonesian, Malaysian, Russian and Thai are offered to UTS students through arrangements that have been made with other universities.

In addition, it is always possible for individual arrangements to be made to enable UTS students to study at higher levels than those offered at UTS or to study additional languages depending on availability.

In all cases, classes are only taught at UTS if student numbers permit. In some cases, students may need to travel to other campuses in the Sydney area.

Enrolment procedures for language subjects

Combined degree students in the International Studies program and students in the Postgraduate Coursework Degree Program are required to enrol in language subjects.

Other UTS students who wish to study a language subject as a credited elective in their current degree need to obtain approval from both their faculty and the Institute for International Studies before they enrol in the subject.

Enrolment in subjects as electives or in a sub-major in International Studies needs to be endorsed by the faculty in which the student’s degree is based and approved by the Institute for International Studies. Students intending to take International Studies subjects as electives in their degree need to register with the Institute.

The procedures are as follows:

1. obtain subject numbers and a registration confirmation form from the Institute for International Studies
2. obtain permission from your faculty or school to take the subjects as part of your degree
3. complete the registration form and return it to the Institute for International Studies in person or by mail or fax
4. complete an enrolment form or a variation form and submit it to the UTS Information Services of the University, or to your faculty or school.

Students intending to take International Studies subjects as electives are advised to contact the Institute at the earliest opportunity.

International Studies subjects are also available to non-award students and students from other universities.
Enrolments in non-award studies need to be discussed with the Institute for International Studies and submitted to the UTS Student Info & Admin Centre.

The Institute starts pre-enrolment from October of the year preceding enrolment. Students are encouraged to contact the Institute as soon as possible.

Credit points and workload

Each language subject is valued at 8 credit points per semester.

To cater for the different needs of students, each language program has different points of entry depending on a student's language skills. The beginner levels necessarily concentrate more on basic communication skills. The higher levels of each language program introduce students to literature and culture in the appropriate vernacular.

Most Language and Culture subjects taught on UTS campuses consist of six contact hours per week. Languages taught through arrangements with other universities normally consist of four to six contact hours per week distributed across two to three days.
The English Languages Study Skills Assistance (ELSSA) Centre enhances teaching and learning at UTS through a focus on academic language development, which involves reading, writing, listening, speaking, critical thinking and cultural knowledge.

The Centre does this by:

- collaborating with faculties to integrate the development of students' academic language in their areas of study
- teaching custom-designed programs to meet the specific requirements and changing needs of undergraduate and postgraduate UTS students and staff
- fostering interest in, and knowledge of, language and learning through research, intellectual contributions and staff development, and
- valuing quality, diversity, internationalisation and flexibility as the Centre serves the wider academic and professional communities.

In addition to a wide range of free academic language development services available to UTS students who complete undergraduate and postgraduate degrees in English, the ELSSA Centre also offers the following award courses, programs and elective subjects.

French Language and Culture

French is a language program for students who are either complete beginners or who first learnt French at school. There are two points of entry: the first for complete beginners; the second for students who have successfully completed HSC 2/3-unit French, or its equivalent. Students in the combined degree take four units in the program, either units 1–4 (beginners) or 3–6 (post-HSC), determined by their point of entry. Students with a language competence in French that is higher than the program may be able to undertake further studies in French at other universities in the Sydney area through arrangements made by the Institute.

The language program covers a broad range of communicative situations relevant to daily interaction in French. The focus is on the development of speaking, listening, reading and writing skills appropriate to the situations that students are likely to encounter. Vocabulary and grammar cover a range of themes and are presented using written and audio-visual materials.

Upon successful completion of the program, students are expected to be able to communicate about familiar things, events and opinions and to have developed skills and strategies for continuing their learning of the language in French-speaking environments. Those students with prior knowledge of French entering the program at a higher level are expected to communicate comfortably on a wide range of topics, with the ability to adjust their language according to social variables such as formality, age and status. Each unit is covered in 13 weeks in one semester. There are six hours of language classes per week. Some of the class time may be conducted in the Learning Resources Centre using computers and the language laboratory.

French Unit 1
8cp; 1st semester, 6hpw; prerequisite: nil
French 1 is the first in a series of four units designed to provide students who have no prior knowledge of the French language with basic survival skills in language and culture, and the ability to undertake In-country Study in France.

By the end of the unit, students are expected to have achieved ‘elementary proficiency’ and be able to satisfy immediate communication needs required in basic social interaction, using expressions and phrases they have learnt. The program allows for the development of listening, speaking, reading and writing skills, and an understanding of the sociocultural contexts in which the language is used. In particular, students gain an awareness of the background of French-speaking countries. Students also develop strategies for predicting the meaning of new expressions and anticipating ways to express new meanings.

The approach adopted is communicative and provides students with many opportunities to interact and use the language in various social and cultural contexts. Audiovisual equipment and computers are used to facilitate learning.

French Unit 2
8cp; 2nd semester, 6hpw; prerequisite: French Unit 1 or equivalent
French 2 is the second in a series of four units designed to provide students who have no prior knowledge of the French language with basic survival skills in language and culture, and the ability to undertake In-country Study in France.

By the end of the unit, students are expected to have achieved ‘minimum survival proficiency’ in speaking, listening, reading and writing and be able to satisfy immediate communication needs and minimum courtesy requirements required in basic social interaction. Students also develop an understanding of the sociocultural contexts in which the language is used and develop further communication strategies.

The approach adopted is communicative and provides many opportunities for students to interact and use the language in a meaningful way in various social and cultural contexts. Audiovisual equipment and computers are used to facilitate learning.

French Unit 3
8cp; 1st semester, 6hpw; prerequisite: French Unit 2, HSC French, or equivalent
French 3 is the third in a series of four units for students with no prior knowledge of the French language, or the first in a series of four units for students who have successfully completed HSC 2/3-unit French, or its equivalent. It provides students with basic survival skills in French language and culture, and the ability to undertake In-country Study in France.

By the end of the unit, students are expected to have achieved communicative competence in speaking, listening, reading and writing skills to be able to satisfy all ‘survival’ needs and limited social needs. They are also expected to have developed an awareness of the various social and cultural contexts in which the language is used. In this unit, students develop the ability to understand the general content of magazine and newspaper articles.

The approach adopted is communicative and provides many opportunities for students to interact and use the language in various social and cultural contexts. Audiovisual equipment and computers are used to facilitate learning.

French Unit 4
8cp; 2nd semester, 6hpw; prerequisite: French Unit 3 or equivalent

The approach adopted is communicative and provides many opportunities for students to interact and use the language in various social and cultural contexts. There are discussions and debates on set topics. Audiovisual equipment and computers are used to facilitate learning.
Spanish Unit 6
8cp; 2nd semester, 6hpw; prerequisite: Spanish Unit 5

Thai

Thai is offered to UTS students through the language program offered jointly by the University of Sydney and Macquarie University. The program is designed to allow complete beginners in Thai to reach a survival level that will allow them to continue their studies in Thailand. If student numbers permit, classes will be available at UTS campuses.
Contemporary society subjects

976111 Contemporary China
8cp; 2nd semester, 4hpw
This subject examines the contours and dynamics of social, political and economic change in the People’s Republic of China since the death of Mao Zedong and the start of the reform era. A central theme is the emerging relationship between state and society in a state socialist system in the process of change and reform. It is an introductory subject that requires no prior knowledge of the People’s Republic of China or of any Chinese language.

976401
Contemporary Europe
8cp; 2nd semester, 4hpw
This subject is an introduction and an overview laying the groundwork for the study of contemporary Europe and individual countries within Europe. It aims to provide students with a basic understanding of contemporary European history, politics, society and culture, as well as national convergences and divergences in these areas. In particular, it aims to provide students with the critical skills that allow them to identify major contemporary issues in the European region of the world, and beyond it. Insights are gained into Europe's national and regional diversity and heterogeneity in national, continental and international contexts. This gives students the opportunity to develop a critical appreciation for societies outside Australia. Students are exposed to ideas that challenge Eurocentric modes of thinking, and that also draw attention to the legacies of imperialism, colonisation, and transnational capitalism and their impact on contemporary European peoples, wherever they may reside. Students develop critical thinking skills relevant to the multidisciplinary nature of the subject.

976211
Contemporary Japan
8cp; 2nd semester, 4hpw
This subject provides an introduction to the dynamics of political, social and economic systems in modern Japan. Central themes are the causes and consequences of social change and continuity in the context of Japan’s emergence as an economic superpower. In the process, it offers a general introduction to Japan’s culture. This subject requires no prior knowledge of Japan or of Japanese.

976301
Contemporary South-East Asia
8cp; 2nd semester, 4hpw
This subject provides an introduction to the countries of Indonesia, Malaysia, Thailand and Vietnam. The themes of modernity and identity are examined at a political-economic level and also at an individual level. Issues which are explored include: migration patterns in the context of regional inter-relationships; increasing urbanisation; legacies of colonialism; the commodification of culture and the growing impact of tourism; new creative forms in the visual, literary and performing arts; the beliefs about and behaviour of women in the region; and ways in which religion and social practice intersect.

976501
Contemporary Latin America
8cp; 2nd semester, 4hpw
Latin America has been a crucible for social, political and economic change in the 19th and 20th centuries. Intense struggles for nationhood, democracy, economic modernisation and secularisation have all resonated in the countries of Latin America. During the middle of the 20th century, Latin America’s primary concerns were focused on national self-determination, inward industrialisation and populist authoritarian efforts to legitimise elite rule. In the late 20th century, the emphasis shifted towards economic growth, internationalisation, and pressures to improve the capacity and accountability of governments. The unit aims to provide students with the historical background, cultural awareness and analytic skills to interpret everyday social, political and economic reality during their period of In-country Study. The subject requires no prior knowledge of Latin America or of Spanish.
50140
Comparative Social Change (U/G)
8cp
Disciplinary Strand – Social, Political and Historical Studies – 200 level Compulsory subject in the combined degrees with International Studies. This subject is for undergraduate students only. Graduate students refer to 50175.

The aim of this subject is to provide students with an understanding of the processes of modernisation and social change in a comparative context using case studies in countries of Western Europe, Latin America, East and South-East Asia. The lectures highlight a number of key issues, e.g. whether the processes of social change are universal or specific; the consequences of modernisation in and for the economy, politics, society, culture and ideology of non-Western societies; and whether the established Eurocentric analytical models are still useful in understanding the modern world. It is emphasised that differing interpretations of modernisation flow from various relations of power which lead to a multiplicity of views on its meanings and significance.

015110 Aboriginal Cultures and Philosophies 8cp
3hpw; weekly; block TA21 BEd, TA25 BEd BA Undergraduate Subject Coordinator: Jennifer Newman

This subject introduces participants to Aboriginal culture and social organisation as expressions of Aboriginal cosmology. Contemporary Aboriginal culture is presented as an evolving response to colonialism and as an assertion of cultural empowerment.

015395
Aboriginal Social and Political History 8cp
3hpw; weekly; block; prerequisite(s): 015110 Aboriginal Cultures and Philosophies 200 level

This subject is a campus-wide elective. It examines and analyses the impact of colonialism on indigenous people, with particular reference to the Aboriginal inhabitants of this region. The emergence of Aboriginal social and political movements is presented as the basis for repossessing of traditional heritages in land and culture.
50139
Australian Politics and the Policy Process
8cp; prerequisite(s): 50109 Power and Change in Australia or 50230 Power and Change in Australia
Disciplinary Strand - Social, Political and Historical Studies - 200 level
This subject examines the complex ways policy is made in the Australian political system. It looks at the role of political parties, pressure groups, the public service, public opinion, the community and the media in influencing and shaping policy proposals. It examines the legal and political framework within which the enactment and implementation of policy occurs. It also considers the impact of globalisation and international law on Australian legislation and its implementation.
Students completing this subject are expected to have acquired a basic understanding of processes of policy formulation and enactment in the Australian context, and of the impact of international factors upon Australian policy. They also understand how interventions may be made in the policy process by those seeking social and political change.

Australian History
8cp
Disciplinary Strand - Social, Political and Historical Studies - 200 level
This subject surveys Australian history from pre-invasion until the present and explores key debates in Australian historiography. Students become familiar with the current questions of debate including contested nationalisms; class and conflict; colonial and post-colonial relations; popular culture and history; childhood and colonialism; shifts in gender orders; the construction of sexuality; multiculturalism and diasporas; and environment, power and contestation. Students are introduced to basic research methodologies. They develop their analytical skills in a major research project, which focuses on one of the primary themes of the subject through an exploration of a specific event or process.

Inequality and Power
8cp; prerequisite(s): 50142 Social Theory
Disciplinary Strand - Social, Political and Historical Studies - 300 level
What is inequality and how do we understand it? What is equity and how does it relate to social justice? How is inequality distributed? This subject addresses these and other related questions by looking at ways of conceptualising inequality and ways in which inequality can be contextualised. The subject examines a range of issues such as sameness and difference, social justice, distributive justice, work, technology and change, class, status, life chances, development, age, nationalism, violence and access to power. Specific attention is paid to questions of race, ethnicity and disability as markers of difference and inequality. The subject draws on historical and contemporary material, and analytical approaches reflecting sociological, anthropological and cultural studies. Traditional ways of viewing inequality, such as north/south, urban/rural, are examined as well as contemporary discursive regimes surrounding the meanings and political usages of equality and inequality.

Interrogating Globalisation
8cp
Disciplinary Strand - Social, Political and Historical Studies - 300 level
This subject concentrates on some of the processes and consequences of globalisation. It includes a review and development of understanding of theories about globalisation and transnationality through political, economic, social and post-colonialist theories. The subject is divided into three segments. The first examines transnational systems, looking at the states system, the economic system and the social system. The degree to which national polity, economy and society has become ‘globalised’ is assessed. This feeds into the second segment, which enters into several key debates on globalisation: hyperglobalists are weighed against the sceptics, neo-liberal globalists are set against neo-marxists, developmentists against post-developmentalists. In the third segment these debates are deepened with discussion of some key issues in globalisation: global protest, environmental justice, international feminism, indigenous transnationalism, post-colonial contestation, diaspora formation, and alternative media or consumer networks.
50186

Utopias and Dystopias

8cp; prerequisite: 50142 Social Theory
Disciplinary Strand - Social, Political and Historical Studies - 300 level

This subject explores social and political theory at an advanced level, focusing in particular upon theories of human nature and 'the good society', as well as their critics. The subject may cover such theoretical traditions as socialism, romanticism, anarchism, feminism, pluralism and totalitarianism, as well as Western and non-Western utopianism proper. Students are expected to acquire an advanced understanding of competing theoretical approaches to questions of social good and social improvement. This understanding helps frame the student's own position on social and political policy, and on questions of desirable change.

50187

Comparative Belief Systems

8cp
Disciplinary Strand - Social, Political and Historical Studies - 300 level

This subject covers the following topics: comparative religion and social structure; religious symbolism; magical belief and practices; religious philosophy; knowledge and transcendental thought; magic, witchcraft, religion and healing; magic and science. The specific content of the subject varies from year to year.

50228

Contemporary Cultures 1

8cp; elective
Disciplinary Strand - Cultural Studies - 100 level

This subject investigates forms of culture as they appear in present-day Australia. Employing a cultural studies approach, it aims to provide methods for analysing complex cultural phenomena in a media-saturated environment. The cultural complexity studied emerges through Aboriginal, Islander, European and other traditions and their hybrid forms. Theories associated with the textual manifestations of these traditions are presented, including modes of signification and representation, cultural and social differences, canons and their contestations and generic and multi-generic forms. Media and multimedia are studied as written, visual and aural products which have specific institutional bases (e.g. Hollywood) for their production and particular audiences for their consumption.

50229

Contemporary Cultures 2

8cp; elective; prerequisite: 50107 Contemporary Cultures or 50228 Contemporary Cultures 1
Disciplinary Strand - Cultural Studies - 100 level

This subject introduces students to the main concepts and methods of the field of cultural studies. It presents critical readings in the breadth of cultural studies in the first half of the semester before proceeding in the second half to a specific case study, e.g. the city, performing popular culture, bodies and sexualities, or critiques of anthropology.

50230

Power and Change in Australia

8cp; elective
Disciplinary Strand - Social, Political and Historical Studies - 100 level

This subject is focused on the question of how decisions are made in Australia. Students investigate three case studies where decisions were taken after periods of intense conflict and debate. These case studies introduce students to the varying but complementary approaches of historians, political scientists, anthropologists and sociologists in their analyses of the ways power is exercised, of the importance of collective beliefs and values and of the many formal and informal processes by which Australians generate and experience change. Students are asked to investigate critically the relationships between the different arenas of decision making: from the floor of Parliament to the negotiating tables 'behind the scenes', from the public drama of street demonstrations to the 'private' sites of kitchen, bedroom and everyday life.

50231

Colonialism and Modernity

8cp; elective
Disciplinary Strand - Social, Political and Historical Studies - 100 level

This subject allows students to analyse Australia's situation in relation to the world and our region by investigating the history of colonialism, including its engagement with modernity and the history of anti-colonial movements. Students deepen their knowledge of the political, economic, social and cultural processes of colonial expansion and imperialism as they affected the colonised peoples, the colonising settlers and the metropolitan powers. The subject investigates the development of 'modernity' in Europe and its colonies. It explores the roots of many intellectual disciplines and tools, investigating, for example, the relationship between anthropology and colonialism, as well as the role of new technologies such as photography in colonial processes. Using international and Australian comparisons, the subject introduces students to many perspectives: those of colonised indigenous peoples; those of members of diasporas (the populations which were dispersed by invasion, slavery and indentured labour schemes); those of the invading ‘settlers’ who established the colonies; and those of people remaining in or migrating into the colonisers’ home country.

International Legal Studies
8cp; 4hpw Undergraduate
This subject deals with the comparative methods of legal research, and examines the growing interdependence and similarity of the civil law and common law systems.

The subject consists of two sections.

The first section is an overview of the major legal systems in the world. These legal systems are compared with the common law system. Among the topics covered is an examination of the meaning, sources and structure of law in the legal systems under consideration.

The second section allows students to look at the reception of legal systems in the countries of their International Studies majors. This may be illustrated with the example of the reception of English law and Islamic law in the countries of South and South-East Asia.

Reconciliation Studies
6cp
Undergraduate
Reconciliation is a key strategy for a sustainable future for Australia. By reconciliation we mean creating ‘a united Australia which respects this land of ours; values the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander heritage; and provides justice and equity for all’ (Council for Aboriginal Reconciliation, 1992). Reconciliation Studies introduces students to the challenges of this process. Core reconciliation issues are investigated and discussed, drawing on relevant life experiences, academic research and professional practice. Skills in applying reconciliation principles in a professional field, industry or community are developed, including the use of cultural plurality and diversity of perspectives found in reference material and the classroom.
